Virtual Members Meeting, Tuesday, June 30 – Jay Self of Greenwood Mills, Inc. has been awarded the David Clark Award for distinguished leadership and service to the Southern Textile Association. The presentation was made during the STA Virtual Members Meeting. The Award was presented by Ed Cox, Burlington Fabrics and Past President of STA.

Recipients of the David Clark Award are selected by the Board of Governors from past presidents of the association who have continued to provide leadership and service to the organization and industry for a minimum of ten years after their term has ended.

Self, served as president of the Southern Textile Association 2009-2010 and as chairman 2010-2011 and has been a great supporter of the Association. He was named President of Greenwood Mills in 2005 and is the first member of the Self family to lead the privately held company since 1997.

Jay joined Greenwood Mills in 1991 and has held several management positions during his career both in the United States and abroad with responsibilities for purchasing, production planning, sales and manufacturing. He is a graduate of Clemson University and holds an MBA from the University of South Carolina.

Jay has two sons, J.C. Self, IV and Mackley G. Self. Jay resides in Greenwood and attends First Baptist Church.
