Q: What's that beautiful river next to the trail? A: The river which parallels the trail in our segment is the Youghiogheny (say "Yock-a-GAIN-ee") River, one of the few rivers in the world flowing from south to north. Youghiogheny is a Native American term meaning "water which flows in a contrary direction."

Q: Are horses permitted on the trail?

A: Yes. Because the trail was built on a double track railroad bed, a bridle path was built next to the limestone surface of the trail. Please keep horses on the grassy surface except when crossing bridges and roads, and going through gates.

Q: Is camping allowed on the WYTC segment of trail?

A: Camping is permitted only in the primitive campsite available at the south end of Cedar Creek Park between the trail and the river.

Q: Why are there two different sets of mile markers along the Yough River Trail North?

A: When the Regional Trail Corporation acquired the 43-mile right-of-way from the P&LE Railroad, most of the original mile markers were in place. Mile Marker (MM) 0 (zero) is in front of Pittsburgh's Station Square, and each mile marker counts the number of miles from Station Square.

The WYTC's section of trail covers MM 31 – MM 42.

The other set of mile markers counts miles of the Great Allegheny Passage. MMO is in Cumberland, MD. You will see MM 105-116 on WYTC's section.
