Things to consider before we begin this course:

- This is a 16 week course crammed into 7 weeks. There will be a lot of work.
- ENGL 212 is a Category 10 course, meaning you will be writing a lot.
- This is an asynchronous course, meaning we will not be “meeting” for a virtual lecture nor will be meeting in person. You are responsible for completing each week’s module on time.
- Except for Week 7’s work and Paper 3, all assignments are due on Sundays by 11:59 pm EST. If you are living in a different time zone, please make sure you take careful note of this requirement. No late assignments will be accepted. If you know there’s a conflict, submit your work early.

Course Goals

This semester, we will investigate several different techniques that lead to effective persuasion and argumentation. We will place ourselves in persuasive situations to more completely understand how the techniques we discussed are actually utilized, effectively or not. As a member of this course, you are encouraged to keep an eye out for persuasive situations you see on tv, read about in various locations, or witness on campus or your off-campus lives.

Class procedures

This course is divided into modules. You are expected to complete the activities in each module by the due dates (Sunday evening) unless otherwise noted. These modules are NOT self-paced—that is, you are expected to respond to others in the discussion boards and the blogs in a timely fashion. You must complete all the activities in each module to earn credit. Please be aware that some modules will require you to comment on others’ blog posts.

Participation in this course is asynchronous. You are not expected to be online at the same time as the professor or as your peers, as long as you complete the assignments. Each week, all instructions and assignments, along with a description of the week's activities, are made available to you in the Modules link. We use the “Discussion Board” for most discussions unless otherwise noted.

I have designated one hour each week as a live chat session relevant to that week's work. You do not have to participate in these, but please know they are available for you. You can join/leave the chat room at any time during that hour. If you just want to "lurk" that's fine, too 😊

I check the course site daily and will generally respond to questions within 24-48 hours (even on the weekends), so feel free to post any questions you have in the "Questions for Kim" discussion board.

I expect you to be well versed in using VSpace. If you need help, please refer to the Student Zone Help Center: <http://www.svsu.edu/its/aboutits/sub-departments/learningmanagementsystemvspace/studentzone/>

Participation

For this class, I strongly suggest you log on at least once a day, if for no other reason than just to keep up with what is going on in the course. I also want to reinforce that you should try to check the course at least one weekend day, even if you have met your participation requirements for the week.

As in a face-to-face class, attendance does not equal participation. Merely logging in does not mean that you are participating in class.

Tone

The objective of the discussions we will have is to be collaborative rather than combative. Remember that even an innocent remark in the online environment can be easily misconstrued. Some suggestions to combat this are to carefully proofread your responses and to remember that humor online is sometimes difficult to carry off. Sarcasm is particularly difficult to get across in written form, so be careful. You will see some useful "emoticons" in the writings of others that you can use to add electronic "gestures" to your words.

Our Classroom

We will spend most of our time in class in one of following places:

- Blog: This is where you will post individual assignments such as your Study Questions, Critical Reading and Writing responses and other writings. You have your own individual blog, but others (including me) can, and will, leave comments for you to read.
- Discussions: The main discussion forum where we (as a class) can post discussion posts on various topics. It will be organized by Module, so look for the designated "Discussion Board" in each module.
- Weekly Updates: At the start of each week I will post a short video discussing some of the issues of the week. These include, but are not limited to: tricky theories, points of interest and confusion, answers to questions, etc. I will post the weekly update as an "announcement" and also e-mail it to everyone.

- Questions for Kim (located in “Discussion Board”): Use this to post any questions that you have about the course, modules, etc. I generally check here first when I enter the classroom, so post any questions or problems (can't see links, when are things due, etc) here. Others are free to answer in this forum as well.
- Resources: In the “resources” tab, there is a folder containing each week’s supplemental material. As you work through the modules, you will be referred to this folder.

Required Texts to Purchase

(This text has been ordered at the bookstore, but feel free to shop around online for the cheapest price.)

How to Think about Weird Things, 7th Edition (ISBN: 978-0078038365)

Course Requirements (detailed below)

Electronic Learning Community (ELC): 40%

Paper 1: Logical Fallacies: 15%

Paper 2: Experiencing Persuasion: 15%

Paper 3: SEARCH Formula: 20%

Professionalism: 10%

Electronic Learning Community (ELC) (40% total): Each week, you will have a number of assignments I am calling ELC requirements. Many of these ELC requirements will take place on the “discussion board” (as your own responses and comments to others) and your own “blog”. Both of these places are on VSpace. Your ELC schedule is provided for you in a Weekly Module, which describes what is due and when. Please title each blog post with the assignment name. Your journal will be assessed for its detailed understanding of the texts, connections to other texts and conversations, and style.

Papers 1, 2, 3: Paper descriptions can be found in the “Paper Descriptions” tab.

Professionalism: As a member of this course, you are responsible for participating responsibly. Being a professional member of a community means sharing ideas, confusion, and helping others understand information. Confusion is welcomed! Don’t feel that you have to understand everything—being a professional member of a group includes understanding that learning is a process. Remember, too, that while this is an online course, it is still an English course so refrain from too much “text language” in your posts (a little is ok, though). In addition, you should respect others’ opinions while in class. Opinions of all kinds are welcome, but disrespect will not be tolerated.

Grading Scale

↑95%: A

↑90%: A-

↑87%: B+
↑83%: B
↑80%: B-
↑77%: C+
↑73%: C
↑60%: D
0%: F

Category 10 courses use a common rubric, which can be found in the “Syllabus” tab.

You must earn a “C” (73%) or better to receive credit in ENGL 212.

Course Policies

The decision to take this course is yours, but once you make that decision, you have responsibilities to everyone else in this community of learners. It is your responsibility to abide by the following course policies in order to contribute to our classroom’s productivity.

Access: Check your e-mail daily. It’s SVSU’s official mode of communication, and there is no excuse why you shouldn’t check it often. This is an online course, and you must have consistent internet access for this course. Not having access is not an excuse. Please make arrangements in advance if you know you will have difficulties getting online.

Very Important: Ask yourself this question: “What will happen to my participation in this course if my computer goes down?” If the answer is “I am doomed,” then you should withdraw and register for a face-to-face section another time. You need to have backup technology plans, because a down computer will not excuse you from the work in this course.

Grade postings: All grades will be posted on VSpace.

Prerequisite: All reading and writing Basic Skills requirements must be completed before enrolling in this course.

Late Work: Late work is unacceptable. Please ensure that your work is submitted on time. The deadlines are clearly marked on all paper descriptions and on the course calendar. If you know a due date conflicts with something outside of class, plan ahead and submit your assignment early. I will send a confirmation e-mail by 8 am the next morning. If you do not receive a confirmation e-mail, I did not receive your paper.

Disability and Non-Discrimination Clause: Students with disabilities which may restrict their full participation in course activities are encouraged to meet with the instructor or contact the SVSU Office of Disability Services, Curtis Hall, Room C-112, Phone: 989-964-4168. SVSU does not discriminate based on race, religion, color, gender, sexual orientation, national origin, age, physical impairment, disability, or veteran status in the provision of education, employment, and other services.

Academic Integrity Policy: According to the SVSU Student Handbook, “Academic integrity is undermined whenever one is dishonest in the pursuit of knowledge. Dishonesty takes many forms, including cheating, plagiarism, and other activities for undermining the educational process.

“Cheating occurs whenever one attempts to gain an advantage through a violation of rules regarding the relevant behavior. It should be assumed that collaboration is cheating unless explicitly authorized” (16).

“Plagiarism involves intentionally or unintentionally presenting another person’s expressions – ideas, opinions, illustrations, data, style – as one’s own expression” (16).

Forms of plagiarism include directly transcribing (copying) without quotation and attribution, summarizing without attribution, paraphrasing or patchwork paraphrasing without attribution, patching electronic materials (including pictures, graphs, and/or charts) without attribution.

In ENGL 212 deliberate plagiarism or cheating in any form will result in the grade of zero (0) for the entire assignment and will be reported to the Academic Conduct Board for further sanctions.

Writing Center Information: One of the many advantages of this University is the Writing Center. You are strongly encouraged to meet with a tutor to discuss your writing. Sessions at the Writing Center are available on a first come, first serve basis. Please stop by the Writing Center anytime you need additional help.
