Calling all outdoor enthusiasts, wildlife observers, hikers, birders, wildlife photographers, hunters, fishermen, kayakers, and environmental educators...

The Bill Williams River and Havasu National Wildlife Refuges need you! There are currently over 230 Friends groups nationwide that assist their local National Wildlife Refuge's Staff with their mission. Our Friends group was formed to assist our local refuges, the Bill Williams River and Havasu National Wildlife Refuges! The Bill Williams River National Wildlife Refuge is located on the south end of Lake Havasu, and encompasses a portion of the Bill Williams River riparian habitat, offering one of the last stands of cottonwood-willow forest along the lower Colorado River. The Havasu National Wildlife Refuge includes approximately 300 shoreline miles of river, lake, and marsh habitat from Lake Havasu City, Arizona to Needles, California. Both Refuges are home to an amazing variety of migratory and resident wildlife and offer wonderful recreational opportunities!

We are a diverse group of outdoor enthusiasts seeking like-minded individuals to join us in our efforts. Our goals include fund-raising for Refuge projects and volunteerism to support Refuge projects and events. Your membership dues will help support projects on our refuges, and you can volunteer your labor and talents to help make this endeavor successful. To check us out on the web, go to
