

Dove Note by Marcia Joy Miller

©2005 Marcia Joy Miller

Beginner

Add charm to the brief notes that you attach to documents. Fold each message into a Dove Note from a three-inch square of self-adhesive memo paper.

1. Remove one sheet from a pad of self-adhesive memo paper.

2. Hold the memo paper so that its sticky side is facing away from you and on the left. Press it onto your document so that it is positioned at least one-half inch away from the left edge.

3. Bring the top right corner down toward the bottom left corner. (Because the memo paper might not be an exact square, do not be concerned with matching those corners.) Make a fold that extends from the top left corner to the bottom right corner.

4. Fold the front corner up and to the right as shown.

5. Sharply fold the top corner down and to the left. The fold should be made below the adhesive strip and may be slanted a little as shown.

6. Open the fold that you just created.

7. Make an inside reverse fold: First, separate the raw edges at the top left of the model. Next, push the top corner between the edges so that it bends on the existing creases. Press the layers flat.

8. Write your message on the dove's lower left wing.

9. Your Dove Note is complete.