

Just Another Day

Just another sunrise.
Brightly shining.
Get up. It's time to face the day.

It's just another day.
Like so many gone before.
It's just another day.
This one I won't ignore.

One more time to look into your eyes.
Another chance to say "I love you"
The same old way I have before.

It's just another day.

Familiar places.
Remembered faces.
Even old things can be new.

The sands of time may be passing.
But, precious memories are lasting.
Hope your regrets are few.

One more time to see your smiling eyes;
Hear your laughter.
Oh, how you touch my soul.

Another time to feel your warm heartbeat.
Or, taste you - - salty sweet.
Or, just smell your smell.

It's just another day.
Like so many gone before.
It's just another day.
I don't have many more.

One more time to look into your eyes.
Another chance to say "I love you"
The same old way I always do.

Just another sunset.
Like you and I first met.
It's just another day.