

Fully integrated pharmacy dispensing, POS, and compounding software

RxOne pharmacy software is a fully integrated platform that seamlessly synchronises point of sale, dispensing, stock and store management, and compounding software in your pharmacy on a single database. RxOne delivers functional intelligence through a highly intuitive user interface that enables pharmacists to easily manage patient and business data, processes and reporting.

Designed in collaboration with pharmacists and integrated with government and supply chain systems in both Australia and New Zealand, RxOne is the solution you need to manage and grow your business and to provide the best care to your patients. We continue to extend the RxOne platform with new integrations including our ChinaPay service for Chinese mobile payment customers.

RxOne POS – Enables you to sell more, save more, and maximise your ROI

The RxOne Point of Sale (POS) application includes a highly optimised stock management system, easy 'specials' set-up, and full support for loyalty programs and payment systems. It enables you to quickly complete sales transactions, intuitively handles scheduled promotions, conveniently displays previous customer purchases, connects to Xero accounting... and much more.

RxOne Dispense – Dispense medicines efficiently and intuitively

This pharmacist friendly application allows you to access patient data quickly, receive prompts on drug interactions, and engage integrated robots, access e-Script repositories and electronic Charting systems. Powerful reporting ensures that you are keeping track of patients and profits, managing workflow and, most importantly, enabling active engagement with patients.

RxOne Head Office – Better business control for pharmacy groups

RxOne Head Office aggregates data for individual or multiple stores. The SQL database enables customised reporting across all aspects of your business. Head Office will receive stock information from each branch, report on groups and individual stores, and has the ability to create orders for the entire business/pharmacy group.

RxOne CompoundPro – The leading Australian Compounding application

RxOne's CompoundPro solution, designed specifically for the Australian market, is the only compounding software that is fully integrated with an Australian dispensing application. Integrated with weighing scales, CompoundPro ensures accuracy for the compounding process and provides full traceability for auditing. It has real-time stock tracking and optimisation and easy monitoring of stock costs. The application utilises short-codes for complex lists of ingredients, scan-to-check functionality, and smart script labelling of formulations.
