

FINE

By John Lipinski

Fine, fine, no longer on your mind, fine, fine, what can I say
Fine, fine, I've been left behind, and it's okay, that's just fine
Fine, fine, where did I go wrong, fine, fine, what can I say
Fine, fine, no longer belong, you went away, and that's fine

I always had your back and you always had my heart
But I always had some doubt, right from the start
To a lovesick maniac, you promised to love me
And I'd never be without your company
I'd be yours, forever, was on top of the world
Sounded like a plan, you were my girl
I'd never want another, you would always be mine
I'm your one and only man, and that's fine

Fine, fine, no longer on your mind, fine, fine, what can I say
Fine, fine, I've been left behind, and it's okay, that's just fine
Fine, fine, where did I go wrong, fine, fine, what can I say
Fine, fine, no longer belong, you went away, and that's fine

Solo

No longer come around, you stay out ev'ry night
You've been busy, avoiding my sight
I believe you found, some afternoon delight
You made me dizzy, but I finally saw the light
Now you've set me free, & I don't think you really loved me
Fact is, I hardly cross your mind
I know it's time to leave, and eventually
I'll heal the loss, I will, I'll be fine

Fine, fine, no longer on your mind, fine, fine, what can I say
Fine, fine, I've been left behind, but it's okay, that's just fine
Fine, fine, where did I go wrong, fine, fine, what can I say
Fine, fine, no longer belong, you went away, & that's just fine
Fine, fine, I'll be fine, someday, someday, I'll be fine
