

"For the Love of Reading"
Student Project Reflections

Jaxon... "We learned how to think...we had figure where to put it.. we had to figure out a story and then add title, we had to draw illustrations. We wrote a lot and had multiple drafts of writing."

This project had a lot of writing and illustrations, I showed GRIT and worked through it. -Bryce

Kacie...When we were writing the book, it was hard to think of ideas sometimes. I stuck with it and showed GRIT and eventually it came to me.

I found the rough draft difficult because it was a lot of writing, so I took my time and I got through. -Landon J.

Katelynn... My favorite part was speaking at the Little Free Library Ribbon Cutting Ceremony. Before we did this project we didn't know about sharing the love of reading.

Landon..When we did this project writing the book, the graphic organizers, and the 1st draft of the book helped me get better with writing.

It was hard waiting when we didn't know where the library going. Because our install date was coming quickly, and we still hadn't received final approval from the property owner. -Ilijah

David... I liked building the little free library. When we did the book, I got better at writing because now I want to write a lot.

Anajah... Putting the books in the little free library was my favorite part of the project.

Dahlia... WE are proud of ourselves, because we worked hard on the donation letters, and on our books.

Marquez...We didn't know what a little free library was at the beginning of this project. My favorite part was the illustrations because I had a hidden yellow person in each picture.

Kacie...We showed GRIT when we worked on our books because we had to keep trying to make our books better. My favorite part was painting the little free library.

Josie.. My favorite part was sanding the little free library.
