Vol. 2 No. 4 ~ Autumn 2017

Bringing in the Yule tree through the bountiful Wisconsin snow are Appaloosa stallion Kenji, a Model Horse Congress Grand Champion, and Paint stallion Naoto Nisei. Both are Breyers customized in the mid-1980s by Julie Froelich, who also captured this scene in her driveway.

A Word to the Fore: So THAT'S What 25 Years Feels Like...

We're running a bit behind this issue, so I'll grab what will hopefully be a rare chance in these pages to wish you a happy December!

This issue features the concluding third part of our tribute to Marney J. Walerius, godmother of the model horse hobby.

Back in 1992, Marney's passing and subsequent estate sale prompted a time of introspection that I tried to capture in an article for The Hobby Horse News, "The Immortal Model Horse: Today Without Marney, Tomorrow Without Us?" (re-printed on pages 3-5 this issue, with the kind permission of THHN editor Paula Hecker).

In revisiting that article for the first time in two decades, I was startled by its almost eerie prescience of plans we've been pursuing in addition to the VCMEC Hobby House & Museum. Once we get a little further, we're looking forward to introducing Next-In-Line.net--stay tuned for details!

Another eye-opener in the article was the results of the select auction of the 150 finest pieces from Marney's collection, including 15 now-vintage customs. I made a whopper of a discovery in reading them, and maybe you will, too!

(Something I hadn't found a way to work into that article, but will shoehorn in here now, is that Dan Patch collector nonpareil Joe Egan was in part responsible for Breyer's model of Joe Patchen, the sire of Dan Patch. After Breyer brought out its 1990 limited-edition Dan Patch, Joe got on the horn to Steve Ryan at Breyer, worked his persuasive magic--and the next year saw Joe Patchen's release! Joe surprised me with the news by having Breyer send me one in advance to review at Hoof Beats magazine. Far too soon after that, my Joe Patchen--who might be a test model, with his sharply masked markings, leg tag, and no box--was named Precious Friend in memory of Joe, who died that summer of viral pneumonia after a long battle with cancer.)

Also this issue, you'll find the results of Leg 5 of the 2016-17 VCMEC Online World Championships. Thanks so much to Corky Visminas for stepping in to judge when our scheduled judge had to bow out!

After spanning a year and a half, this revolutionary show series gathering vintage customs from around the world (Australia, Canada, Germany, Japan, Sweden, the United Kingdom, and the USA!) has at last reached its concluding leg, Leg 6, which is with judge Kay Myers now! The results of that leg will be published in the next issue, at the end of February, with the final results of the overall 2016-17 VCMEC Online World Championship series in the issue after that, at the end of May!

We're thrilled to announce more big news for next May, too--check out the box at right! May 6 is a Sunday (our venue wasn't available on Saturday), but we hope to also have a get-together of some kind the night before. More details soon!

In the meantime, Model Hooves Headed Home--our project to pack up and ship a large collection of vintage customs home to Michigan from Japan, which continues to be threatened by the situation with North Korea--is underway, with Lisa Shepard providing a safe haven to more than 30 models so far. Thanks so much again for your kindness, Lisa!

Heartfelt thanks too to Julie Froelich, who on a wintry Wisconsin afternoon just a dream from yesterday captured the tree-rific holiday scene that graces this issue's cover!

Best wishes to all for a happy, healthy holiday season and New Year!

-Sparky C.

Mark your calendar! Vintage Custom Model Equine Congress II will be May 6, 2018!

Start gathering your herd for Vintage Custom Model Equine Congress II--a gratifying get-together of enthusiasts and vintage custom models, to make hobby history as well as revisit it!

Any plastic model horse customized before the year 2000 is eligible. From the people's-choice Vintage Custom Showcase to the judged show-rings of the Breed Challenge, it's a day full of ways to celebrate these survivors from the 1960s to the 1990s--and there's lots of loot for the winning, too!

This epic event will again be held at American Legion Captain Oscar Brady Post No. 298, in Battle Creek, Michigan, hometown of the VCMEC Hobby House & Museum. The show information packet will be ready for download on or about January 31.

Stay tuned for the latest news and announcements on our Vintage Custom Model Equine Congress group on Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/groups/vcmecongress/>), as well as on our website (<http://www.vcmecongress.org>).

See you in Michigan in May for remakes, reminiscing, and good old-fashioned fun!

Remembering Marney

Twenty-five years ago, the world lost Marney J. Walerius, godmother of the model horse hobby. Our three-issue tribute concludes with a closer look at the epic two-day sale at her home after her passing, and some now-vintage customs purchased at that sale of the century.

The Immortal Model Horse: Today Without Marney, Tomorrow Without Us?

by Ardith Carlton (The Hobby Horse News, December 1992/January 1993 issue; reprinted courtesy of THHN)

"My wife and I don't have any children, so the heirs--

well, the only heirs that would be there are whatever will happen. But we have this strange vision of, at the end, when neither of us are around, they have this auction, and somebody walks into the auction house and stares around, looks at our different things, and says, 'These were weird people!'"
-- Arte Johnson, on his and his wife's collection of cow figurines and art, from Collector's Journal with Ralph and Terry Kovel.

The rare, four-foot-long Dan Patch barn thermometer would elude jolly Joe Egan no longer. "I found one," he hooted gleefully to me, "and you bet I bought it!

"Actually, though," he added, with an introspective chuckle, "I'm just renting it. That's what we collectors call it--renting--because these things will be around a lot longer than we are!"

Less than a year later, Joe Egan was gone. His collection of Dan Patch memorabilia, the largest in the world, which he had hoped would someday be the basis of a Dan Patch museum, was dispersed at auction by his daughter.

Today, someone else is renting that barn thermometer.

In our own model horse hobby, Marney Walerius' passing last April has had startlingly similar repercussions. Her collection of model horses was one of the largest on the planet. Like Joe Egan, she had hoped that her massive collection, and the painstaking documentation that went into it, would someday culminate in a museum that all could enjoy.

There were other parallels. Joe's wife, also a Dan Patch collector, had preceded him in death, leaving their daughter as executrix. Marney's sole living parent, her mother, was well versed in the model horse hobby. However, she passed away two months after Marney, so the estate duties fell to Marney's brother Greg, who lived a thousand miles away.

Faced with about 4,000 model horses, boxes of tack and vehicles, reams of model-related paperwork, and photographs by the pound, as well as Marney's valuable stack of Indy 500 memorabilia (not to mention their mother's entire estate, and the necessity of having to fly between Denver and Chicago to oversee things), Greg decided to sell the model horses at a public sale and auction at the family home in Barrington, Illinois, on September 12-13.

Stu and Arlene Bentley distributed flyers for the sale at BreyerFest on August 1, and invited a handful of area hobbyists to help inventory, set prices, and assist during the sale.

"It was a solid week of work," recalled one of the helpers. "We worked from seven in the morning until two at night, and then we were up again at seven, every day--there was that much stuff to sort through! Marney had horses stuffed just everywhere. And all the photos and paperwork--the written records and newsletters and magazines--it was unbelievable. Some people wanted to ashcan it, but it's our history! So all that got saved, thank goodness."

With so many horses to sell in only two days, the decision was made to auction only 150 models considered to be the most valuable, with the other thousands of horses priced for flat-out sale. The paramount priority was to sell every model that weekend, and the horses were priced to move, with a table of $5 models, a table of $10 models, one of $20 models, and so on, including a box of freebies. With the auction's strict 150-horse limit, many fine test colors and remakes that didn't make the cut were put on the sale tables for $50 and up.

Around 30 hobbyists arrived Saturday morning, and the feeding frenzy began promptly at nine. Throughout the Walerius house and garage, people grabbed and grinned, shared and shrieked. Buyers were required to leave the sale area with their purchases and stow them in their cars before returning for more. Some eager hobbyists were loaded down to the point of having kilts of Family Arab Stallions dangling from their belt loops!

A steady stream of new horses was loaded onto the tables as spaces opened up, and the bargains were eye-boggling. To name just a few, a one-of-three grey Classic Arab Mare went for $35, a one-of-24 golden bay Sham, $25, and for one whole dollar, someone got a prize in disguise: a repainted china foal that turned out to be a bisque casting of the Stablemate lying-down Thoroughbred foal, supplied to Breyer by Hagen-Renaker when the Stablemate series was first being planned!

Both days, the buying action had cooled off by noon, and the crowd moved to the backyard for the afternoon auction, which began at three on Saturday and at one on Sunday. About 40 hobbyists registered to bid on the creme of Marney's collection, with the even-numbered lots going on the block Saturday and the rest Sunday.

Stu Bentley served as auctioneer, the proceedings were videotaped for posterity, and at times, the gathering almost seemed like a carnival held in Marney's honor. People swapped favorite stories about the hobby's frail-bodied but determined godmother, who was often described as being held together by "bubble gum, bailing twine, and a will of iron."

"We were all pretty cheerful," one hobbyist said, "but especially during the auction, it sneaked up on you. You'd see a horse, and there would go the tears. Once I started crying, and I didn't even know why--it's just, there we all were in Marney's yard. It was a party she would have loved." She was quiet a moment, then brightened. "Have I ever told you how I made Marney think I was a Chihuahua?"

Marney loved dogs, even counterfeit Chihuahuas, and her miniature Schnauzer Dee Dee was one of her biggest joys. Dee Dee has a safe home with her trainer now, but on sale day, on the front porch of Marney's house, dozens of Schnauzer figurines stood on a table, awaiting new buyers to come along and happily snap them up, just as Marney had done once upon a time. But the dogs had a long wait, as did several of the model horses.

Priced from $35 to $50, rows of unsigned remakes stood. And stood. A few people ventured guesses, but for the most part, the absolute identity of their artists was known only by Marney. Those artists' decision to not sign their work slammed the door on these horses' futures--without knowing who the artists were, most buyers simply snubbed the lot. Fortunately, a handful of hobbyists were willing to give a horse a chance on its own merits, rather than on an artist's name. But the sad truth remains that most of the unsigned remakes--even those superior to some of the remakes signed by popular artists--did not sell.

Marney was rumored to have left a will, but none could be found. With her models' fates left to chance, some hobbyists came to the sale with a mission. "I had to make sure that certain horses got good homes," one explained. "No way would I let them be bought up by someone who doesn't even know them, who'd just turn around and resell them!" At the sale and auction alike, most hobbyists sat on their hands when someone with a connection to a model wanted it. Those who didn't often found themselves bid up by people sympathetic to the underdog.

That weekend, about 3,500 model horses left the Walerius house on Drury Lane, never to return, "rented" anew by dozens of hobbyists. Of the roughly 500 horses that remained, most of the OFs were bought in bulk by Illinois hobbyist Terry Richards in mid-October; the rest of the models were consigned by Greg Walerius to hobbyist helper Cheryl Monroe to sell through the mail.

The storied collection of Marney Walerius is no more...yet now is so much more. Bursting away from Barrington, Illinois, this model-horse hailstorm of historic significance has showered hobbyists across North America. Already, some of Marney's models are being passed along from hobbyists who were there to hobbyists who weren't; heirlooms of our hobby, part of its history, most change hands with the same words: "This belonged to Marney." Perhaps a few people intend to ride their Marney horses for all they're worth, but in keeping with Marney's own selfless devotion to the hobby, crass capitalism has in most cases taken a back seat to kindness.

The September 13-14 estate sale also marked a turning point for the model horse hobby. Marney's death in April brought home the hard truth of our own mortality, but the dispersal of her collection spelled out, loud and terribly clear, the far-reaching effects of our mortality. After we're gone, the horses remain. All our sundry stuff remains. Because Joe Egan was right.

It's a chilling feeling, that we're only "renting" our treasured collections. Who wants to think about that inevitable day when the world will go on without you? But you can help direct your horses' destinies, if you make plans right now.

Laws vary from state to state, but in general, the possessions of a minor or an unmarried adult will go to the parents, while the possessions of a married adult will go to the spouse. If you want to make out a valid will, most--if not all--states require that it be signed and witnessed. Some states may also require that the will be handled by a lawyer. Making out a valid will is a huge step to take, but it's the only way to ensure that, by law, your wishes will be carried out.

First, though, a lot of preparation is needed on your part. Inventory your collection, with a complete description of each model and a clear color photo of each side. If the horse is an unsigned remake, be sure to make a note of its artist for future reference. Include whatever you've named the horse, too. There's no such thing as too much documentation on a horse--try to imagine every question that someone might ask about the model, then put the answers on paper while you're got the chance!

If you are selling any models, your own remake artistry included, keep detailed records of each transaction in the works--a complete description of each model being sold, the buyer's name and address, payments that have been made, and the amount still owed. If you should get called away midway through a deal, it might be a tall order for your parents or spouse to pick out which of the dozens of models is the one that Connie Competitor was paying for. Even worse, someone might turn up with a year-old cancelled check and claim that you still owed them your highly prized OF Hagen-Renaker Sespe Violette...when the deal had actually been for three Breyer Belgians that you'd sent last year!

And finally...enjoy your models. Just wash your hands, so dirt and skin oil are at a minimum, and then take that horse right out of the cabinet or off the shelf for some "quality time"! Think he's always looked sharp under western tack? Don't fish out his performance pictures and remember the photo session--just go ahead and tack him! Spending twenty minutes under tack has rarely hurt a model horse, if you're gentle.

Have you always loved his expression? Then hold him, and look at him! Turn him all around, and smile--he's all yours! If you're more familiar with your horse's photo image than with how terrific he is in person, there's no time like now to get reacquainted.

Marney Walerius left many legacies--her Breyer guidebook; her historic collection; her drive and complete devotion to the hobby she loved. But perhaps the most important inheritance she left us was this unwitting realization: We should take steps to assure our models a safe tomorrow...and take time to enjoy them today.

Below is a list of the models and selling prices in Marney's estate auction, as noted at the auction. All horses except for Lots #68-81 are original finish. There are no typos in the high bids--this was definitely the "right place at the right time" for most collectors, with scads of super bargains! Horses who didn't receive a bid Saturday could go back through the ring by request on Sunday, and in some cases, the minimum bid was lowered. By late Sunday, unsold auction horses could be purchased for minimum bid, so please note that any "No Bid" horse may have been purchased after the auction.

Shining On, A Quarter-Century On

Here in the year 2017, a sobering 25 years since Marney's estate sale, her now-vintage custom horses--and the memories they carry--are still cherished. Here's a look at where the flow of time has carried them.

Shannon Rodgers was fortunate enough to go to the sale, and wrote to introduce the Kathy Maestas creation she selected there, pictured at right: "This is Shine On You Crazy Diamond. Purchased from the collection of Marney J. Walerius (I remember begging my parents to take me to the estate sale--we did go at the end) so not much is known other than RRH Lady Phase done in typical earlier fashion of Maestas work--thread veins, cut leather shoes.

"At the time I was riding several Appy school horses at the local training barns so the early RRH models with spots had allure! Little did I know how my future Lady Phase obsession would also make this piece all the more special.

"I love this piece and consider myself lucky to have met Marney as a budding hobbyist who started showing at the end of the Congress years. I treasure the unique OF models of Marney's I was able to acquire, and as I had just become enchanted with remakes (and Pink Floyd!), glad I had the presence of mind to obtain a lone vintage custom model from her collection as well! I welcome further info if known.

"Much later I had purchased and sold direct from the artist (a custom dapple gray Gem Twist which I have since sold--Lucy In The Sky With Diamonds)...wish I would have asked more about the older piece from Marney's that I chose to keep!!! At that age I was wowed of course and know how special that is from a historical standpoint as well! :)

"Getting to meet Marney and show at IMHCC was cool--years later visiting the tree planted in her honor at the Kentucky Horse Park and understanding how she was 'the roots of the model horse hobby' was even more special!"

Julie Froelich, Marney's longtime friend who was the "counterfeit chihuahua" you read about two pages ago, customized several horses for her over the years. At the sale Julie bought some back, along with other custom horses she knew would be loved by friends not able to be there, and later guided them to grateful new owners.

Corky Visminas recalled, "In the fall of 1992, Ardith Carlton and I were asked to take over a live show at short notice; the original showholder was unable to honor her commitment due to an emergency. (We didn't realize when we accepted that the 'show hall' for this 2-day show, at a large outdoor facility which often sponsored live horse shows, was in fact the jump shed...!)

"We reached out to Julie Froelich for help, and she graciously agreed to come down and help judge. She brought five horses from Marney's sale as gifts for us! One of them was a Sham--one of my favorite molds!--remade by Julie into a young black Arabian stallion in a pose that could best be described as 'frisking.' I fell in love with him at first sight! I've always had a soft spot for models that are misbehaving; it's fun to imagine the exasperation he'd cause his handler! You also don't see remade Shams very often. I call him RM Zakuro, and I love him!"

A grey mare and foal by Kathleen Maestas in the 1980s were part of the wonderful present. "Julie said that when she saw this sporty mare on the sale table, she thought the mare had quality and that I'd enjoy her--and Julie was so right!" recalled Ardith Carlton. "She didn't have a nametag, and I thought she'd be a great daughter of Standardbred pacer Laag, so named her Allkidslovelaag.

"The hopeful-looking kiddo at her side also didn't have a nametag, and I wound up giving him a non-Diamond name: B.F. Flyboy. The 'B.F.' is short for what Julie called him when she told us about seeing him among the still-unsold horses as the sale neared its finish: 'I couldn't leave that little bean fart behind!'"

The last two members of the quintet turned out to have been lots 75 and 76 in the select auction.

"Julie knows well my weakness for black Arabians," said Corky, "and she knew I'd fall in love with this fellow remade from a Proud Arabian Mare in 1985, quietly standing with alert ears. I mistook him for a stud, however, and told Julie that I admired how she'd made him so 'stallion-y,' to which she replied, 'Well, actually, he's a gelding! But if you have some epoxy, I can fix that!' Dr. Julie performed a detailed 'un-gelding' procedure she thought Marney would have approved of, and the resulting stallion, RM Saki, is one of my very favorites!"

Ardith was astonished to receive San Louie Obispo, who Marney had commissioned from Laurie Jensen in 1990. "Laurie featured him on her mailing labels," said Ardith. "That's where I first saw him, fell crazy in love, and begged Laurie to sell him to me! She wrote back, 'Sorry, he's Marney's!'" Julie didn't know that--but she said as soon as she saw him in the auction, she knew I'd love him! I'm so grateful. He's one of my dearest treasures!"

Two of the Froelich CMs in the auction were won by Tom Bainbridge, who steered them to hobbyists unable to attend. One, an '88 Suffolk Punch stallion, went to Jenny Palmer, who years later sold him to Ardith. "I remember when he was in the works, Julie mentioned how Marney was having her lavish this guy with mondo-caliber stallionry goodness," said Ardith, who named him Galient. "Good thing he's a draft horse, with all those memories and, heh-heh, himself, to carry!"

Lot 72, an ethereal Arabian mare customized from a Proud Arabian Mare by Julie Froelich in 1990, went from Tom to Nickie Hunter to Laura (Von Hagel) Keefer. "I can't remember what her original name was," wrote Laura, "but I think it was something like Zahra. She was reportedly part of the late Marney Walerius' collection so I named her Marney's Treasure as tribute to Marney."

Three of the auction's 15 CMs did not receive bids--but Cheryl Monroe helped at least two of them find homes. Last issue we met RM Colorvision, a collaboration between Fara Shimbo (remake) and Julie Froelich (paint/ hair) that was one of the 150+ CMs left over from Marney's sale that her brother Greg asked Cheryl to sell (see last issue). This Paint mare had been lot 73--and with her was lot 71, Slew O Happiness, a Thoroughbred CM by John Bellucci.

"Maybe due to his filler lifting, he was unsold, and lumped into a box of unloved customs that was wisely salvaged by Cheryl," wrote Sue Sudekum. "I ended up buying him from Cheryl, and he's been here ever since." Renamed Slew O' Bucks, he's still winning.

"I also got my two Maestas CMs from that box, Appaloosa [Diamond Legacy, below] and a sorrel QH [Diamond Flame]" Sue recalled. "I'd only owned one before that because they were unattainable (price-wise) earlier and I always admired her work.

"There was also a dark bay QH that was unsigned but sure looked like Carol Williams' style (I don't own that one anymore)."

That dark bay Quarter Horse is somewhere out there, as are thousands of other horses from the collection of Marney J. Walerius. And as time goes by, sometimes separating model horses from their past history, you might even have one and not know it.

Take Flash Of Gold, for instance. This 1978 repaint by Nancy Strowger was a gift to me 5 years ago by Elizabeth Bouras to assure her an appreciative home. An eBay purchase a decade before that, nothing was known about her past.

In doing this issue, I revisited the results of Marney's auction for the first time in some 20 years--and there's lot 68: "Strowger RR '78 Palomino Ruffian!"

It was a surprise to Liz, too. "Had no clue that Marney could have owned her at one point!" she wrote. "Nancy was pretty adamant about not repeating the same color on the same mold unless for the same owner with their permission, so most likely there was only one Palomino Ruffian!"

A quarter-century on, hobbyists are still saying it: Thank you, Marney.

Victory Lap!

Shortly before press time, and without revealing who'd won what, owners of each division's Overall Champions and Reserve Champs were invited to share their thoughts about these superb vintage customs. Let's start with the VCMEC On-line World Championship series' first-ever "Triple Crown" hero, the Overall Champion in all three of his divisions in this leg!

BROTHER LOVE

Leopard Appaloosa stallion, CM by Nancy Strowger in 1978

1960s/'70s Overall Champion Breed, Color, and Workmanship

Congratulations to owner Lois Bennington! Leg 5 judge Corky Visminas writes, "The modern Appaloosa has evolved past the chunky, almost tank-like type represented by Breyer's Classic Quarter Horse Stallion, being more long and lean of build. The old-style sturdy 'bulldog' type of stock horse, however, still holds a lot of appeal for me, and this mold is one of my favorite examples of that type. It's important for us to remember what a breed formerly looked like, even if there are drastic differences between its earlier appearance and its current conformation."

"With the CQHS mold coupled with Nancy Strowger's painstakingly detailed and realistic paint job and beautifully executed pattern, I feel that Brother Love does double duty -- he's not only a wonderful 'vintage' customized model horse, but also an excellent example of a 'vintage' type of purebred horse not necessarily much seen anymore."

DANE TYLER BENNINGTON

Chestnut Morgan stallion, CM by Laura Hornick in the 1970s

1960s/'70s Overall Reserve Champion Breed and Workmanship

Lois Bennington writes, "I don't think I have any more to add about 'Love' and 'Dane' except to say they are two of my favorites (for vintage and newbies) and I'm pleased when people think the same about them." To read what Lois wrote about them in previous Victory Laps, please see the Autumn 2016 and Spring 2017 issues!

WING'D JAGUAR

Blue roan blanket Appaloosa Sport Horse, CM by Sue Sudekum in 1979

1960s/'70s Overall Reserve Champion Color

Sue Sudekum shared the inside scoop on this star in the Autumn 2016 and Winter 2017 issues--check 'em out!

MON NAFA RANI

Grey Arabian mare, CM by Sarah Minkiewicz in the late 1980s

1980s Overall Champion Color and Workmanship

JAMIL MHURATT

Grey Arabian stallion, CM by Sarah Minkiewicz in the late 1980s

1980s Overall Reserve Champion Workmanship

Cheryl Ridge writes, "Living compact now means I can't always have the things dear to me, near to me. There are no fancy glass cabinets nor wall to wall shelving."

"Storage and rotation of collectibles is a fact of life for me. But two treasured model horses always remain nearby regardless of where I live. They are sister and brother Mon Nafa Rani and Jamil Mhuratt - my holy grail dream come true Breyer Arabs CM'd by Sarah Minkiewicz in the late 1980s."

"Despite not having a background in real horses, despite my life, my hobbies and my focus taking different turns over the years, I still pinch myself. That the two same models that took 1st and 2nd place in a large BEST PAINT JOB class (576 entries) back in 1989...are with me in Australia all these years on."

"Rani always performed well, winning prizes hearts and admiration along the way."

"Jamil came along later and had been unshown for years. So I am delighted he too now can be appreciated worldwide via this show series."

"Considering the photo I have used to enter this series, not only does it represent these little hooves on Australian soil but reflects my love of travel photography. In this case my local Victorian High Country here in Australia which has featured in horse movies such as The Man From Snowy River (1980s) and The Silver Brumby aka The Silver Stallion (1990s)."

"Please revisit the Victory Lap/Winter 2017 issue for more background on Mon Nafa Rani and Jamil Mhuratt. Thank you."

BANG TANGO

Bay Quarter Horse mare, CM by Julie Froelich in the mid-1980s

1980s Overall Champion Breed

Congratulations to owner Laurie Jo Jensen!

AZREEL

Grey Arabian stallion, CM by Julie Froelich in 1987

1980s Overall Reserve Champion Breed

Paula O'Keefe writes, "Oh, I'm so happy to hear that! I don't really have any stories about him though, except that he was a Christmas gift from Julie Froelich in 1987, and definitely one of the most amazing gifts I've ever been given! I have no knowledge about Julie's creative decisions there, but it's probably not hard to tell that I love grey Arabians and old-fashioned type, and I'm sure at some point we had discussed how the SM Morgan Stallion was originally the Arabian Stallion and still makes a great Crabbet/domestic type Arab. (Fun fact: Liz's corresponding gift that year was the also-lovely Lalique. =) )

Favorite thing about him, besides his face <3, would have to be the lovely thread mane and tail, I still use him as an example of how thread and glue hair was done back in the day."

LBR TJORBEN

Bay roan spotted Appaloosa x Fjord mix gelding, CM by Juliane Garstka in 1989

1980s Overall Reserve Champion Color

Juliane Garstka writes, "Here come two new pictures of Tjorben and one where he is with others (that one is quite famous, but the others are not all vintage), one in the barn and one carrying home the Shopping bags from the supermarket.

"In the scenes class of the show is as far as I remember the original picture when Tjorben accompanied Little Neil to the Supermarket in 1990. So my little riders still use him for that as a grazing horse is not very versatile for riding, lol.

"But they also take him outside in the pasture. I wished there were more grazing molds around and to me the Hartland POA is the best.

"I'm not good in telling stories although there are some like the miniature plastic soup package I found there behind the super market and that is mostly in one of the bags, afterwards I also found a roasted chicken and a plate there, lol. I later found out it's from Playmobil.

"He also was on the picture that won the NAMHSA photo contest and got me a paint job by Sue Kern so there was a new herd member afterwards who of course now is a good friend. Tjorben now lives together with two other customs out of that mold and they prefer grazing on the meadow (I really must take a photo with all of them on it, but the other two are not vintage)."

IMA ROCK-A-TEER

Chestnut extended blanket Appaloosa gelding, CM by Lisa Rivera in 1993

1990s Overall Champion Color and Workmanship

Cheryl Monroe writes, "OMG! SO grateful to the judges that my spotty lad did so well! I've not really campaigned my customs over the years, so he hasn't had the chance to shine anywhere til now. When I saw him I HAD to try to buy him. I can't remember exactly how I talked Lisa out of him, but I think he is quite exceptional. I loved her use of multi-colored hair and his pattern is SO realistic! I have always loved him!"

HATHOR

Fleabitten grey Arabian mare, CM by Sophie Nordstrom in 1999

1990s Overall Champion Breed

Sophie Nordstrom writes, "Hathor is made by me in 1999. She was made to be in my personal showstring, but right after she was finished I sold her to a good friend of mine as I had an idea that I didn't want to collect Arabians anymore. My friend showed her very little before she stopped collecting and then disappeared from the hobby. And then 1.5 year ago she resurfaced on a show I attended. Owner wanted to sell her collection and Hathor was among them. The owner told me that Hathor spent around 15 years in a box. And you could see it on her. She has a few cracks, mane and tail was in bad condition and she's got a bit yellowed, but of course she would come home again."

CHESTER

Buckskin tobiano mixed breed pony (Highland x Pinto Pottock) gelding, CM by Sarah Minkiewicz in 1994

1990s Overall Reserve Champion Breed

Karen Beeson writes, "I first saw 'Chester' as just a blank body ready for paint. Sarah Minkiewicz had a few different bodies in her room at the Holiday Inn North at Breyerfest.

"Chester started out as a North Light cob, to which Sarah added a new, mane and tail, and tons of personality!

"Sarah painted him and he arrived to me in the mail a few months later. Being before the widespread use of digital photography, I had no idea what to expect. Sarah had given him the most deliciously soft buckskin tobiano coat!

"I was in college at the time and named him for the Chester Street bar in Champaign, IL. To this day, he is one of my heart horses of my collection. <3"

GGK TIQATU

Dapple grey Arabian mare, CM by Maren Landschof in 1991

1990s Overall Reserve Champion Color

Sophie Nordstrom writes, "GGK Tiqatu was made in the very early 1990's [by German artist Maren Landschof]. I wanted to buy her for at least a couple of years, but the owner denied. And then one day I got a letter asking if I still wanted her and of course I would so she came to me.

"A few years later I got an idea that I didn't want to collect Arabians anymore so I sold Tiqatu to a good friend (same as Hathor). Tiqatu was later put in a box and in storage for at least 15 years. During that time the basement, where Tiqatus box were, got flooded and Tiqatu got *really* damaged. I still wanted her back and she's now in the US to be restored. She really deserve it, as the multi-champion she is."

GOSSAMER WINGS

Grey Arabian mare, CM by Sarah Minkiewicz in 1993

1990s Overall Reserve Champion Workmanship

Kirsten Wellman writes, "I did ask Sarah M-B if she remembered anything about the piece, and unfortunately, she doesn't, so I don't know much more about Wings' past other than my own history of just missing buying her for the longest time. I did finally have a chance to live show her this year though. I judged at BreyerWest in March, so I took Gossamer Wings along to show in Sarah's A Good Vintage show. Winners are voted on by the attendees at the show, so I was really delighted when she not only won the 1990s custom bracket, but also overall custom champ, and Ham's (Chris') personal favorite. I'm thinking I might take her to BreyerFest this year and see how she does in the open show. She still looks remarkably good for her age."

Comments on Leg 5 from judge

Corky Visminas: "Thanks to everyone for showing your vintage beauties! It was so nice to see many familiar faces, and it was amazing to meet so many new models I've never seen before! Many of the classes were extremely difficult to judge, with the competitors being atoms apart!

"A few models would have placed higher with a different photo. Some photos seemed dark, muddy, or unfocused; if you're scanning a printed photo, be careful and make sure it's an accurate representation of your photo. A few photos were far too small, or at a much lower resolution than necessary (some were severely pixelated out). I have vintage eyesight, and I want to be able to see what your horse looks like!

"Thanks so much again!"
