

Make Yourself Available

By Leslie Moore

“Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not” (Psalm 17:5).

This morning I woke up with a word in my heart and my spirit. My word for this year is "Mend".

Mend: to repair something that is broken or damaged. Return to health, heal, recover, make peace with.

This year I want to focus on this word for my life, my relationships with my family, with my friends, with people God has placed in my life to be a blessing and not a curse.

I love this word because it speaks so much about God's mercy and grace for us and his miraculous power to mend, heal and restore what is broken. We are beautiful masterpieces in His hands. What the world sees as shattered pieces, God sees as puzzle pieces that he can bring together once again and create a mosaic masterpiece.

Every piece of you and me is important to God. Every area of our life is important to God. I am NOT the artist, the designer, or the creator. He is. So He will mend, repair, heal and restore.

I will just make myself available. I challenge you to make yourself available. I dare you! and watch God do the impossible.

Let my passion for life be restored, tasting joy in every breakthrough you bring me. Hold me close to you with a willing spirit that obeys whatever you say. -
Psalms 51:12
