First-ever 'Welcome Home' event for residents of Limestone Creek, West Jupiter

People who grew up in Limestone Creek and the subdivisions of west Jupiter—historically, home to the town's black population—are invited 'home' to celebrate their history and culture in, and connectedness to, Palm Beach County's northernmost community.

The reunion features a weekend of events, beginning Friday, June 27 through Sunday, June 29, 2014. All events will be held in Jupiter; tickets are still available for some of the events by calling Event Chair Ann Leonard.

"This is a way for us to celebrate our collective history here, in the town of Jupiter, where we were born and raised," Mrs. Leonard said. "People have been really excited about coming together and remembering."

Events include:

- Fish and chicken fry, begins at 4:30 p.m. on Friday 6/27 at Jupiter Community Park, 3377 Church Street. Cost is $20 and tickets can be purchased at the door.
- Award banquet, begins at 6 p.m. on Saturday, 6/28 at Jupiter Community Center, 200 Military Trail. Cost is $60; check ticket availability. Attendees are asked to wear all-white attire.
- Sunday church service and luncheon, begins at 11 a.m. on Sunday, 6/29 at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, 6823 Church Street in Limestone Creek, Jupiter. Lunch is $20; check ticket availability.
