

Enjoying the day

Tim and Amy Adamson, who is the shelter's office manager, were instrumental in organizing the event and designing the handsome event shirts. Some shirts are still available, all sizes. Check with the shelter.

Bike rally raises $2,107 for shelter

Randolph County Animal Shelter hosted its first bike rally "Ride a Hawg and Save a Dog" Saturday, Aug. 30. The event began at Lakeside Market and Grill.

Wes Kinsey, owner of iRock and Boogie radio, provided entertainment with an on-site broadcast. Daniel Hall, owner of Tickled Pink Petting Zoo, brought many of his exotic pets, including local celebrity Cowboy the red kangaroo.

The motorcycle riders left at 11 a.m. for the ride over Mt. Cheaha, then on to other stops before returning to Lakeside where raffle winners were announced.

The bake sale, raffle and event T-shirt sales made a profit of $2,107 for the benefit of RCAS animals and their care. And yes, the second annual ride will be next August. You may look for it on the Shelter's website at www.RandolphShelter.org.
