Coating Inspection: It's More Than Just Watching Paint Dry!

Patrick Sweeney, Project Manager, CSI Services, Inc.

This month's speaker, Patrick Sweeney of CSI Services, Inc., will showcase a wide variety of coating failure modes drawn from over 25 years of experience inspecting industrial coatings from numerous applications across the United States. Identifying the causes of these failures is paramount to avoiding them in future coatings projects. Attendees will gain much from Patrick's expertise and valuable advice on these failures, and how to recognize situations in the field that can lead to a coating contractor's nightmare! Knowledgeable inspectors can save both the contractor and the owner money and anguish by providing the correct advise when they see an impending disaster developing. Patrick will describe how each failure he presents could have been prevented by appropriate coating inspection.

Patrick Sweeney is a Project Manager at CSI Services, Inc., a consulting engineering firm specializing in industrial protective coatings. The Company is an SSPC QP5 Certified Coating Inspection Firm and completes underwater inspections through its diving division. Patrick has over 25 years of corrosion prevention through the application of coatings technology. He has been involved with over 2,500 coating inspection projects. Patrick holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from California State University, Los Angeles. He is an SSPC Certified Protective Coating Specialist (PCS) and a Level 3 Certified Coating Inspector though both NACE International and SSPC. He is also an instructor for both the NACE and SSPC coating inspection training programs. He is an active member of AWWA, NACE, and SSPC. He is a past NACE Trustee and the current Southern California SSPC Chapter Chairman.
