

self-de·ter·mi·na·tion

noun

The process by which a person controls their own life by making a decision to do what one loves and wants to make a freedom making existence through that life long decision.

For example you may state: In my self determination, I want to become an Interfaith Minister, I want to be free and desire to be ordained. I am determined to be my self and to accept my personal responsibility for the rest of my life on earth. I want to organize and set others in this understanding of friendship, of interfaith and personal freedom to be oneself.

An Important question

Will Reverend Danny De Gug's org at Word of Honor.org control me? No and know your free to be who you want and you remain free always. You study what you like and go to any school if you desire to fulfill your purpose of educational satisfactions. You are always who you are or whoever you desire to become.

Yet recall you are free to self determine your studies at home and have educational satisfaction at and in home studies. To work as an organizer to move Inter-Faith forward while all the time you are not controlled by membership boards or religious manipulations that suggest and demand that you be this way and that way or else.

Fulfillment is self determined by your effort, by your honesty and by the realization you are free.

Another definition for self-determination ought to be understood as, that you as a newly ordained Interfaith Minister can ordain others and that you legally can become a 501 c3 non profit and start to build a new world of opportunities to all at hand. Opportunity is knocking at your door, work to assist others into freedom and personal respect for one's self-hood.

Example of self determination continues!

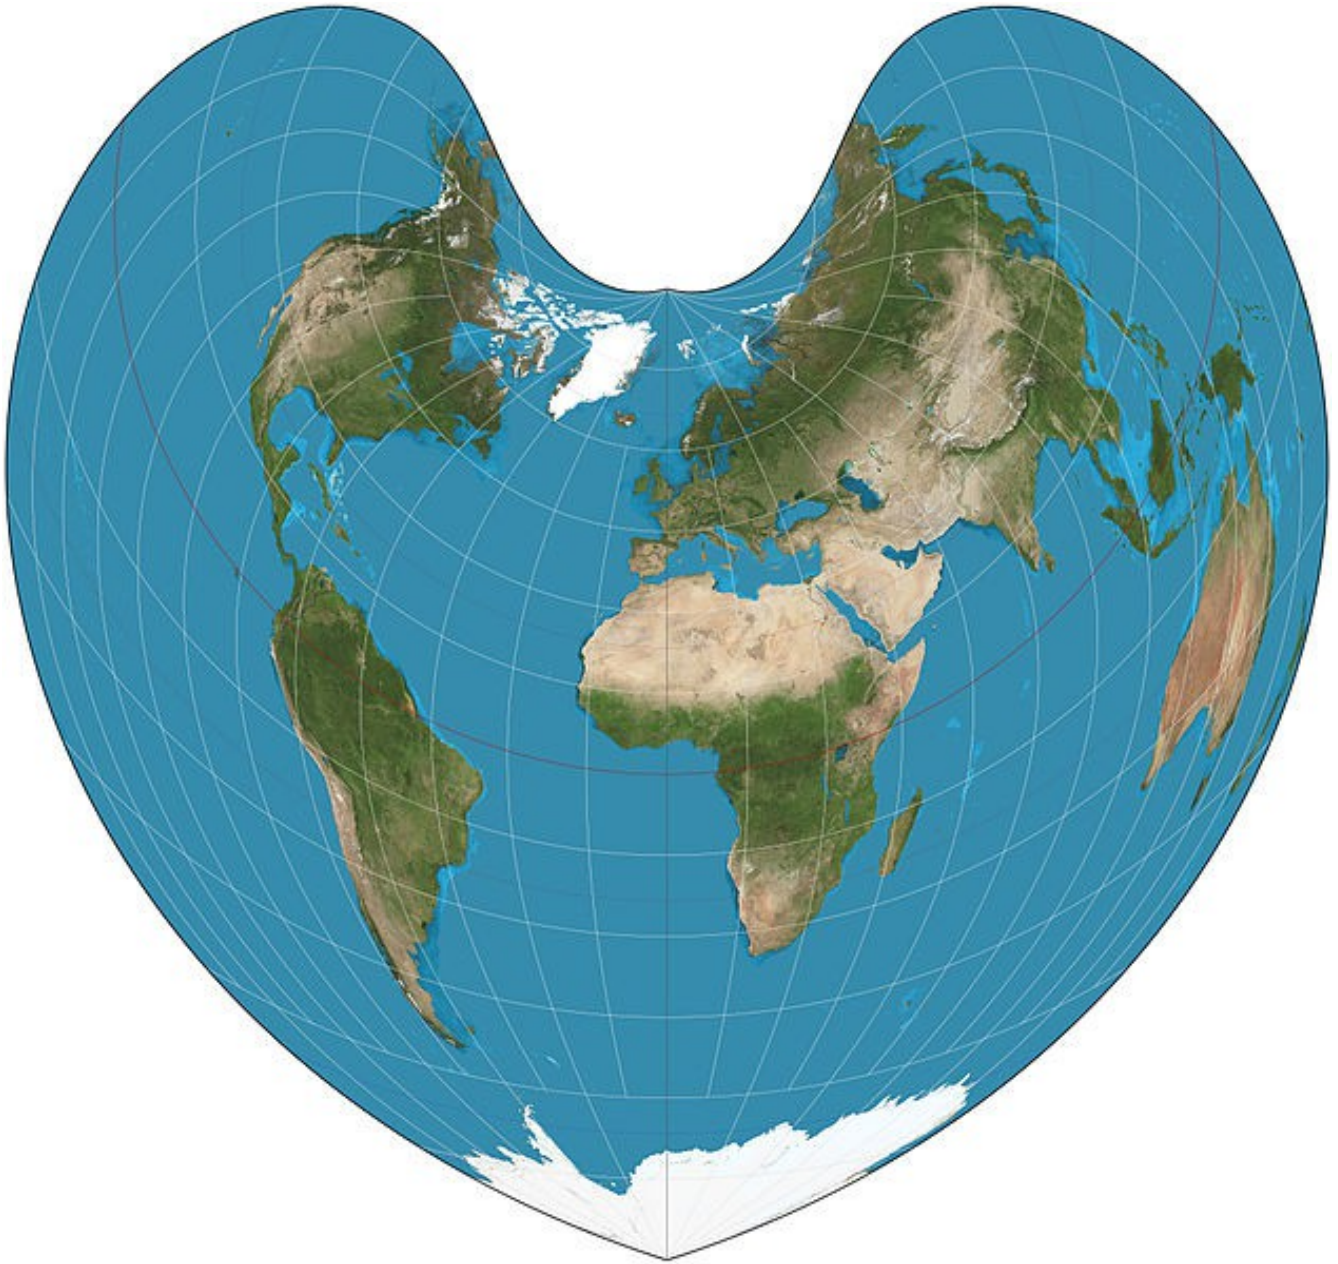

The process by which a country determines its own statehood and forms its own allegiances and government has this parallel. The process in which an Individual determines a group of Associates and forms allegiances and a board to create a better opportunity for one's Interfaith community and for all of society is within your freedom and power to create.

"the changes cannot be created or made until You the Person's right to self-determination is recognized"

Please recall your self determination is fully respected and this ordination of you by Word of Honor.org is fully authorized and so are YOU!

We self develop and work to share our developments with others, for this is the reasoning we have for being here; because we are here to learn and to be free.
