

Foundation of Support

God desires for you to stay close to Him. Your private time alone with God in His Word will nourish your relationship. It's not any different than when someone loves you, the love they bring touches your life in various ways as you spend time together.

Your private world becomes the fountain of supply and the foundation of support in Him. As you nourish your relationship with God, your spiritual life will govern how to respond in life. The condition of your relationship with God matters, and is reflected in your daily life. This is definitely NOT about "once-a-week" attendance at church.

Let this week reflect your love for Him in all you do! Part of how you do do this is by offering Him your obedience up close rather than from a distance.

Thank you Father for bringing me into another day with you. May the power of your Word change me today for Your word changes all things. Your word never leaves things the same. Lord I know, all of mankind was made to associate with the active word of Your truth manifesting in each life. I acknowledge Your word is life and truth. I embrace the truth that Your word is good for me and to me. Your word heals. I ask that my body would respond to your word today and every day. Thank you that NO weapon forged against me will prosper. That I am etched in the palm of your hand and my walls are ever before you. Father, Your Word promises that You are my sure foundation, a rich store of salvation and wisdom and knowledge. I admit that I cannot face today without you. I ask you to help me pause and take time throughout the day to seek Your face, Your wisdom and Your counsel. Guard my mind today against worldly nonsense, and snares of the enemy that plot against Your purposes for my life. May I be rooted firmly in Christ! My I be firmly rooted in Your purpose, Your message and the principles of your laws. May Your love surround all my activities as you relate to mankind through me.
