

High-Performing Traditional Public Schools are Rare, Really

- 1) Rank of Teacher's union in Texas

http://www.huffingtonpost.com/2012/10/29/study-examines-ranks-teac_n_2039879.html

- 2) "Research on student achievement in charters is encouraging. A recent analysis of the charter school studies since 2001 that measured student or school performance over time—the ideal way to measure a school's "value added" reported that 29 of 33 studies found charters performing as well as or better than traditional public schools"

<http://educationnext.org/wave-of-the-future/>

- 3) "Statewide, for non-special education students, payments range from $6,600 to more than $17,000 per student. Special education amounts are much greater, from $13,000 per child to more than $43,000."

<http://thenotebook.org/october-2014/147728/so-charter-funding-formula-unfair-to-whom>