 Gospel: Luke 10: 1-12, 17-20.. “Your Heart will Rejoice”

This narrative is a roadmap of the spiritual journey - a description of the spiritual life in miniature. The key is to recognize them.

Jesus chooses. We are chosen as instruments of God's love. We are chosen in our baptism. We are chosen in our being present in a worshipping community. If we fail to see ourselves as being individually chosen we will never have the confidence to begin the journey.

Jesus sends. We are sent by rising to the challenges of the Gospel. We are sent at our confirmation. We are sent by our God-given vocations. We are sent at the end of each Eucharist when we are asked to go in peace to love and serve the Lord and one another. If we fail to see these sending moments in our lives we will lack direction and purpose.

Jesus instructs. We are instructed by the Word of God through Sacred Scripture and we should always strive to take the Word of God personally. It needs to constantly challenge and speak to us. The kingdom of God is at hand here and now for us as it was for the seventy-two disciples. We, like them, are chosen as builders of the same kingdom in our own lifetimes.

Jesus warns. We too face our own wolves throughout our journey. Although they vary in size and number it seems that they are present to everyone. Not only do the disciples travel without a money bag, sack or sandals, but they travel without weapons of defense. Even the shepherds were able to wield a rod and staff in defense of their sheep. However, the disciples are only armed with their faith and the name of Jesus. They need nothing more. Neither do we. We labor as the disciples did.

Jesus chooses his disciples. He instructs them and then warns them of the dangers ahead. The disciples depart on their mission, succeeding only by the power of his name. Rejoicing as they return, Jesus speaks to them of even greater joy.
