

DINOSAUR

By John Lipinski

Been called a dinosaur, cuz, I don't like change
Been called much worse before, through verbal exchange
Can't find the time anymore, and my life has a plan
I am a dinosaur, an old-fashioned man

I'm kinda tired, so uninspired, of hearin' bout your newest phone
Takin' a picture, typin' a message, that's how you wanna keep me in tune
Computers will crash and you'll lose your stash, no backup, better pack up, you'll groan
Face book is fine, if you have the time, how sweet, got a tweet from Aunt June

Call me a dinosaur, I've made up my mind
Don't want to change anymore, I'm a throw-back kind
Spinning in a revolving door, can't get anywhere
I know I'm a dinosaur, but, I'm still breathin' air

Won't lose any sleep, because I can't keep, a handle on what's happening next
I'm not too hip, and don't give a flip, about scorin' the latest I-pad
Keepin' up with the Joneses, isn't my style, heck, I don't even want to text
I live for today, not sure if tomorrow will come, I know, I'm bad

Call me a dinosaur, born a long time ago
Resisting change, for sure, I've heard you, I know
Don't even try anymore, don't waste your time
I'm just a dinosaur, and I like it, just fine
I know, I've been wrong before, but, I'm a dinosaur
