

Beth Shalom Weekly Update

Thursday, September 9, 2021 to Wednesday, September 15, 2021

Hazzan Lance H. Tapper Shabbat Parashat Vayelech

Shabbat Service—Friday, September 10, 7:30 p.m.

SHABBAT SERVICES

Friday Evening 7:30 pm

SYNAGOGUE OFFICE HOURS

The Beth Shalom office will now be open on Wednesdays and Fridays. Erica will work from home on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Our office phone and email will continue to be attended to Tuesdays through Fridays.

9:00a-4:00p Tuesday-Friday
562.941.8744

bswoffice@verizon.net

Yahrzeit

Sandra Paul
in memory of aunt
Celia Bolasny

Millie Hock
in memory of sister
Ann Brezak

Dan Franden
in memory of
Blanche Franden

Mark Handler and Debora Davis
in memory of grandfather
Henry Handler

Hazzan Lance H Tapper
in memory of aunt's father
Morris Marks

Toby Pinck
in memory of husband
Max Pinck

Bernard Starkman
in memory of father
Jack Starkman

Robin Weintraub
in memory of father
Robert Weintraub

Clergy Schedule

Virtual Services: www.facebook.com/bethshalomofwhittier

Services and events are once again open to in person attendance with proof of vaccination and a mask. Services will continue to broadcast on Facebook simultaneously for those who cannot attend in person.*

September 10-- Shabbat Shuvah 7:25 pm Prelude; 7:30 pm Service
Hazzan Lance and Ty Woodward

September 15-- Kol Nidre 6:25 pm Prelude; 6:30 pm Service Hazzan Lance, the Beth Shalom Singers, Alan Kelly Crawley, Organist/Choir Master and Dr. Ana Maldonado, Kol Nidre cello soloist

September 16-- Yom Kippur Morning 9:25 am Prelude; 9:30 am Service Hazzan Lance, the Beth Shalom Singers, and Alan Kelly Crawley, Organist/Choir Master. Yom Kippur Minchah, Yizkor and Neilah 4:25 pm Prelude; 4:30 pm Service Hazzan Lance, the Beth Shalom Singers, and Alan Kelly Crawley, Organist/Choir Master

September 17-- 7:25 pm Prelude; 7:30 pm Service Hazzan Lance and Ty Woodward

September 20-- Erev Sukkot 6:55 pm Prelude; 7:00 pm Service Hazzan Lance and Ty Woodward

September 24-- Shabbat Hol Hamoed Sukkot 7:25 pm Prelude; 7:30 pm Service Hazzan Lance and Ty Woodward

September 27-- Erev Sh'mini Atzeret/Simchat Torah 6:40 pm Prelude; 6:45 pm Service Hazzan Lance and Ty Woodward

Covid-19 Regulation

As of now, masks are mandatory per the L.A. County Health Dept. for all indoor gatherings regardless of vaccination status.

All services are now in hybrid mode. Those with proof of vaccination and who have a mask may attend in person, all others may watch on our Facebook page.

Why My Non-Jewish Taxi Driver Respects Judaism: Judaism's Unique Approach to Education

Torah Reading: Deuteronomy 29:9 - 30:20

Haftarah Reading: Isaiah 61:10 - 63:9

Parashat Nitzavim-Vayelech

By: Rabbi Elliot Dorff, PhD, posted on September 26, 2019/5779

"Surely, this Instruction that I enjoin upon you this day is not too baffling for you, nor is it beyond reach" (Deuteronomy 31:11). Why could the Torah be sure that it is not too baffling for us or beyond reach our reach?

The answer lies in the educational system that the Torah constructed. First and foremost, parents had the obligation to teach the Torah to their children: "Impress them [or "teach them diligently"] to your children. Recite them when you stay at home and when you are away, when you lie down and when you rise up" (Deuteronomy 6:7). This last verse, famous for being embedded in the Shema, uses a biblical device called a "merism," where the ends of a spectrum are mentioned in order to indicate everything in between as well. Thus this verse is telling parents -- and Jews in general -- to talk

Beth Shalom Services: All services are now in hybrid mode. Vaccinated people with proof and a mask may attend in person, all others may watch on our Facebook page, Beth Shalom of Whittier. When there is a livestream taking place, you can click on it and watch. We encourage anyone who is not yet comfortable coming to in-person services to tune in each week and take part in our services virtually and leave messages of greeting to other who are watching. This is one way we can all stay in touch.

Directions for viewing livestream services: If you are a current Facebook subscriber, you need only to go to our Facebook page, Beth Shalom of Whittier, to view these announcements and videos. If you are not a current Facebook subscriber, you need to go to www.facebook.com and sign up with a username and password and then you can access our page at that point. Always log in 5 minutes ahead of the video start time.

ROSE HILLS CEMETERY PLOTS

If you want to do your family the mitzvah of pre-planning, please call the office. They can give you information as to what gravesites are available and what steps to take to secure your plot(s). Plots are $3500 each.

Book Club: We are going to read Daughter of Molokai: a Novel by Alan Brennert. We are meeting on Tuesday, September 14th at 12:30 pm. In October, we are going to read & discuss "Letters for Emily" by Camron Wright. No date as yet in October. We are now meeting in person and Zoom.

Tribute Cards: To send a Tribute Card, please contact Michelle Hess. Her e-mail is: michelleh3532@gmail.com

PayPal Donations: Paypal donations welcome: bswoffice@verizon.net

Simcha Sharing: Let us know about your Simcha's. Let the office know of your good news and we will share it in the next weekly. Weddings ★ Births

Birthday

Mark Gibson - September 9
Preston Rosser - September 11
Eileen Wiseman - September 15

about the Torah everywhere (home and abroad) and always (from the first waking hour to the last). In doing so, it is repeating a heritage going back to Abraham: "For I have singled him out, that he may instruct his children and his posterity to keep the way of the Lord by doing what is just and right, in order that the Lord may bring about for Abraham what He has promised him" (Genesis 18:19).

Second, adults as well as children would know the Torah because they would be reminded of it through an elaborate ritual system. Contrary to things like tables and chairs, the abstract ideals and even the specific stories and laws of the Torah do not exist in the world in which we live. We must be constantly reminded of the existence and the message of the Torah if it has a chance of affecting our lives. As a result, the Torah requires us to mark the seasons so that their passage can trigger in us an appreciation of our connections to nature and to Jewish history (e.g., Exodus 12:24-27; Leviticus 23:42; Deuteronomy 26:1-11); to mark life cycle events with yet other lessons in mind (e.g., Genesis 17:9-14; Leviticus 15); and, even more pervasively, to put on the tallit and tefillin each day (Deuteronomy 6:8), to put a mezuzah on our doorposts (Deuteronomy 6:9), to restrict our eating in accordance with the dietary laws (e.g., Leviticus 11, especially 11:43-45; Deuteronomy 12:23-25), and to surround eating with blessings (Deuteronomy 8:10). All these rituals remind us ultimately of aspects of our Covenantal relationship with God; they teach us what that relationship requires of us; and they reveal to us the values and concepts embedded in that relationship.

Third, to reinforce these educational methods in the life of each of us in the home and the community, once every seven years, as Jews gather in Jerusalem for the Sukkot holiday, they are to listen to a reading of the entire Torah:

Every seventh year, the year set for remission [of debts], at the Feast of Booths, when all Israel comes to appear before the Lord your God in the place that He will choose, you shall read this Teaching aloud in the presence of all Israel. Gather the people -- men, women, children, and the strangers in your communities -- that they may hear and so learn to revere the Lord your God and to observe faithfully every word of this Teaching. Their children, too, who have not had the experience, shall hear and learn to revere the Lord your God as long as they live in the land that you are about to cross the Jordan to possess.

(Deuteronomy 31:10-13)

While Jews take it for granted that everyone is entitled -- indeed, commanded -- to learn the tradition, this was not at all the practice in the ancient world. Most religions were esoteric; that is, only the priest or other elite members of the society were made privy to the secret beliefs and practices of the religion. In sharp contrast, the Torah records that God repeatedly told Moses to "speak to the Children of Israel -- not just to the priests or elders, and not just to the men, but to the entire people. A striking example of this difference, recorded by Columbia University scholar E. J. Bickerman (Studies in Jewish and Christian History [Leiden: Brill, 1976], Part 1, p. 199), occurs in the archaeological remains of the Syrian city of Dura in two third-century houses of worship there:

In the Mithra temple at Dura it is a Magian in his sacred dress who keeps the sacred scroll closed in his hand. [But] in the synagogue of Dura, a layman, without any sign of office, is represented reading the open scroll.

That every Jew is privy to the sacred texts of the Jewish tradition has several important implications. First, this feature of Judaism confers significant status to each and every Jew. Since we can all learn the revelation of God, we can all interact with God directly. Rabbis and others learned in the tradition can teach Jews the skills necessary to understand the content and methods of the tradition, but ultimately no intermediary stands between a Jew and the sacred texts of Judaism. Each Jew may learn the Torah, wrestle with it, and interpret it in the way most plausible to him or her. Anyone who wants to make his or her interpretation the official stance of the Jewish community (or a subset of it) must justify that reading to those s/he wants to convince, but even if every other Jew thinks your interpretation is wrong, you have not only the right to suggest it, but the duty to reveal the new facet you have found in the sacred text.

"Is not My word like a hammer that breaks a rock in many pieces (Jeremiah 23:29)? As the hammer causes numerous sparks to flash forth, so is a Scriptural verse capable of many interpretations. (B. Sanhedrin 34a).

It is for very good reason, then, that "Where there are two Jews, there are at least three opinions!"

Second, the sacred status of each Jew as student and interpreter of the Torah comes with a reciprocal duty: each of us has not only the right, but the responsibility to learn the tradition. None of us can pass off that duty to others. Some, by virtue of their learning, may have the special charge to help others learn, but in the end each of us has the duty to learn as much about the tradition as we can. And we cannot blame bad teachers for our failure to learn it ourselves!

Third, learning the tradition brings with it yet another responsibility -- namely, to act in accordance with it. Each and every adult Jew can justly be held responsible for transgressing the Torah's commandments because all Jews are expected to know what they are. This applies not only to our individual behavior, but to the actions of our community as well, for we all are supposed to know what is right and wrong:

Whoever is able to protest against the wrongdoings of his family and fails to do so is punished for the family's wrongdoings. Whoever is able to protest against the wrongdoings of her fellow citizens and does not do so is punished for the wrongdoings of the people of the city. Whoever is able to protest against the wrongdoings of the world and does not do so is punished for the wrongdoings of the world. (B. Shabbat 54b)

Knowledge brings with it responsibility for our own actions and for those with whom we are associated.

Finally, when only a small elite possesses the secrets of a tradition, they can retain their special power only if they keep the tradition both secret and constant. If everyone knows the tradition and lives by it, though, the tradition will inevitably adjust to the new realities of each generation. That is not only a good thing, but a crucial one, for only when traditions are learned and challenged and adjusted can they live on from one generation to another.

Recently, my taxi driver in Chicago, a young man who two years ago had come to this country from Krakow, Poland, told me that he had immense respect for Jews. He even had a book on the history of the Jews on the front seat of his taxi. When I asked him why he respected Jews so much, he said that Jews value family and education. To the extent that he is right about our commitment to education, it begins with passages such as the one from this week's Torah reading with which I began -- and others like this one in this week's reading, with which I shall end: "No, the thing is very close to you, in your mouth and in your heart, to observe it" (Deuteronomy 31:14).

Memorial Plaques: we have brought all of the memorial plaques into our office, from the storage unit. If you would like a family member's plaque, please contact the office and let us know the name on the plaque. We will find it and arrange for you to pick it up. If you know of anyone who might have had loved one's plaques on our memorial board, please let them know that they are available to be picked up.

HIGH HOLYDAYS 2021-5782

BETH SHALOM OF WHITTIER

Meeting House (Sanctuary) at First Friends
13205 Philadelphia St, Whittier, CA 90601
(All are welcome in-person with proof of Vaccination)

ALSO SIMULTANEOUSLY BROADCAST ON OUR FACEBOOK PAGE: BETH SHALOM OF WHITTIER

ROSH HASHANAH

EREV—SEPTEMBER 6: Prelude at 7:25 pm/Service at 7:30 pm

FIRST DAY—SEPTEMBER 7: Prelude at 9:25 am/Service at 9:30 am

SECOND DAY—SEPTEMBER 8: Prelude at 9:25 am/Service at 9:30 am

YOM KIPPUR

KOL NIDRE—SEPTEMBER 15: Prelude at 6:25 pm/Service at 6:30 pm

YOM KIPPUR—SEPTEMBER 16:

MORNING: Prelude at 9:25 am/Service at 9:30 am

MINCHAH (AFTERNOON), YIZKOR, NEILAH: Prelude at 4:25 pm/Services at 4:30 pm

OFFICIANTS:

Hazzan Lance H Tapper, Spiritual Leader

The Beth Shalom Singers

Alan Kelly-Crawley, Organist/Conductor

Dr. Ana Maldonado, Kol Nidre Cello Soloist

There is no charge for our services, but donations to Beth Shalom are encouraged.

For further information, please call our synagogue office at: 562-941-8744

YOU ARE INVITED TO

BETH SHALOM OF WHITTIER

Meeting House (Sanctuary) at First Friends

13205 Philadelphia St, Whittier, CA 90601

(All are welcome in-person with proof of Vaccination)

ALSO SIMULTANEOUSLY BROADCAST ON OUR FACEBOOK PAGE:

BETH SHALOM OF WHITTIER

EREV SUKKOT

SEPTEMBER 20—Sukkot Prelude at 6:55 pm/Service at 7:00 pm

SHABBAT HOL HAMOED SUKKOT

SEPTEMBER 24—Prelude at 7:25 pm/Service at 7:30 pm

SH'MINI ATZERET/SIMCHAT TORAH/YIZKOR

SEPTEMBER 27—Festival Prelude at 6:40 pm/Service at 6:45 pm

OFFICIATING:

Hazzan Lance H Tapper, Spiritual Leader
Ty Woodward, Organist