SOAR pauses for a break

As the result of COVID-19, Success and Opportunity At Reading (SOAR!) Adult Literacy is on hiatus for the foreseeable future.

SOAR is not disbanding; however, no one-on-one, in-person tutoring will take place until it has been deemed safe by the State of Indiana to do so.

For more information, contact SOAR! Executive Director Adele Bowden-Purlee by email at soardirector@gmail.com.

Helping local parents in need

BEDFORD — Volunteers spent the afternoon of March 12 at StoneGate Center working to make parenthood just a little easier for some Lawrence County families.

A crew from United Way of South Central Indiana, IU Health Community Outreach, Anthem and CareSource stuffed gift bags for 100 women who will become clients at Hope Resource Center, the local crisis pregnancy center and medical clinic, in the next year or so.

The women will receive diapers, shampoo, a comb and brush set, baby powder, hand sanitizer and other needed items.

The United Way board donated the first $1,000, and the other organizations donated supplies and volunteers to stuff the gift bags.

“I can’t believe all of the donations we’ve gotten,” said Karen Dubois, who is with IU Health. “The community has been so generous.”

BEDFORD — Volunteer Brandi Meyer takes a tote bag from Karin Dubois of IU Health at StoneGate Arts & Education Center March 12. Donated baby items were placed in tote bags for women who will soon be clients of the Hope Resource Center. The event was coordinated by the IU Health Community Outreach Center.
