Family in Crisis? We Can Help.

The Olivia Project offers youth and families a way to receive social services without the youth being under arrest or in DJJ's custody. To be eligible for this service, the youth must not have been arrested previously.

Through this free program, staff offers:

- One on one family support
- Child assessment and referral
- Drug testing
- Basic health screening
- Continuing support after your appointment

The Olivia Project addresses issues such as:

- Substance abuse
- Aggression
- Sexual abuse
- Domestic violence
- Issues at school and home
- Bullying
- Grief
- And many more!
