The concept of this Action Range was formed when a number of Ikes members approached us asking for a way to practice the art of drawing and firing a handgun with live ammunition to enhance their skill sets for Action/Combat such as IDPA or IPSIC shooting as well as Cowboy shooting. CCW permit holders and others wanting to work on the Self Defense Skills of drawing and firing from concealment is also part of this usage plan.

During the proposal and concept phases many add-on options were proposed. Due to budget and physical size limitations we are back to being able to offer four members of the Action Range at a time the ability to draw and fire handguns at a variety of targets at various sizes and distances. Targets can include Steel Targets that are at least 30 or more feet from the shooter.

We can not offer a safe way in this building to move around much and practice a match style shooting event. Just basic Draw and Fire practice and shoot at Steel Targets that you can not do on our other ranges.

If or when we build Phase II, it should be designed for more moving and firing scenarios. The backstop is built and in place, as is one of the two main walls that would be needed.

Steel Targets that would be left in the Acton Range are possible, but another round of contributions would be needed to make the purchase. Those making such contributions would be on a committee to agree on what to buy.

The Ikes will provide 4 stands to hold targets per Box position. You must bring your targets to insert into the stands. We will make those materials available here for as little cost as possible. Including the wood slats and IDPA or IPSIC Cardboard Target cardboard.
