My name is Anthony L. Frazier and I am currently attending Virginia Commonwealth University, double majoring in Forensic Biology and the Spanish Language, and minoring in Chemistry. I intend to use my degree to enter one of the most prestigious government organizations in the United States, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) as a special agent. The FBI has always captured my attention with their priority mission to protect the interests of the United States and ensure the security of the American people against terrorism and other national threats.

I arrived at Virginia Commonwealth University, located in the heart of Richmond, Virginia, on August 18, 2005. Upon starting my first semester, I felt well prepared transitioning from high school advance placement classes to college course work. In addition to concentrating on my studies, I joined a club known as the Student Alumni Ambassador. This organization provides direct support to VCU alumni by getting them involved in various student activities held throughout the academic year. Shortly after joining this organization, I was elected Vice President. With this responsibility, I attend all functions sponsored by the Alumni Association and oversee that all activities and procedures are properly handled.

Towards the end of the first semester, I became interested in becoming a Resident Assistant for the 2006-2007 academic year. As a Resident Assistant, I would guide incoming freshmen college students in their academic affairs. This position is extremely competitive and the process consisted of an initial application, group interview and personal interview. After turning in all the proper documentation and going through the interview process, I was notified in the spring semester that I was accepted for the position.

Due to my academic record for the fall semester, I was also accepted into the VCU honors program. This program allows me to challenge myself with a specialized honors curriculum and modules that will assist me in realizing my full potential. I completed my first year just as strong as I had started.

Finally, I decided to participate in a four week VCU summer study abroad program in Cuernavaca, Mexico. This trip allowed me to immerse myself not only in the Spanish language, but also the Spanish culture. During the week I attended six hours of intense Spanish instructions at Universidad Internacional and dedicated my weekend to various excursions.

I would like to close this letter by thanking the Aerospace States Association for their support in my education. Being a recipient of the ASA scholarship for the 2006-2007 academic year will help me tremendously achieve my future goals throughout my college years and beyond.
