

Introducing KM-1

A New Paratyphoid (Salmonella) Vaccine

- Protects pigeons against Paratyphoid disease:
  - Vaccinated birds were challenged in tests and did NOT get disease (Paratyphoid); also they did NOT shed bacteria (Salmonella).
  - Unvaccinated birds developed disease (Paratyphoid) after challenge and shed bacteria in their droppings (Salmonella).
  - Vaccine produces both humoral (Antibody) and cellular protection.
- Safe: Birds show minimal side effects.
  - Earlier vaccines depressed birds for up to a few days with occasional fatalities.
  - Can be given to pigeons 6 weeks and older.
- Broad Spectrum: Contains several recently isolated strains of Salmonella.
  - Contains strains from racing, show and meat breeds of pigeons.
  - Contains strains which infect lung, heart, kidneys, as well as the joints and intestines.
- Recently developed by Drs. John Kazmierczak and Paul Miller.
  - Both are lifelong successful racing pigeon fanciers.
- Manufactured by ARKO Labs, well know avian vaccine manufacturer.
  - Contains a patented adjuvant, which safely boosts "vaccine take" and provides a high level of protection.
- Extensively tested for safety and effectiveness in both lab and field.
  - Field tested for years in several pigeon fanciers' lofts.
  - Lab tested by ARKO and approved by the USDA.
- Licensed by USDA for sale in all states; can legally be sold, shipped and possessed in any state. Available through our select distributors, listed below.
