From: David Hobbs, Egypt Legion of Honor

Subject: Bylaw Change

To: Doug Tayrien, ILOH Bylaw Chairman

To: Wayne Steele ILOH Commander

To: David Smith, ILOH Adjutant

To: Tracy Coughlin ILOH Judge Advocate

Purpose: To change Article IV, Section 2, (B), Paragraph 3 of the Lieutenant Commanders responsibilities by adding additional instructions on failure of submitting reports.

Currently Reads:

He will communicate and personally visit all Temples in his Division from time to time that do not have a Legion of Honor or one that does not belong to the International Legions of Honor and will make every effort to Charter any and all Units in his Division that are not members of the International Legions of Honor; he will notify the International Commander, in writing, at least quarterly of his efforts and progress. He will attend all called meetings of the International Commander, the Annual Convention, Board of Directors meetings, Executive meetings, the Imperial Session, if possible, the Association Legions of Honor meetings in his Division and others, if possible, and the Ottawa and Arlington Ceremonies and meetings. He will support the policies of the International Legions of Honor and International Commander and all programs sponsored by the International Legions of Honor. He will encourage other International Officers to assist him in his Division when needed.

Change to Read:

He will communicate and personally visit all Temples in his Division from time to time that do not have a Legion of Honor or one that does not belong to the International Legions of Honor and will make every effort to Charter any and all Units in his Division that are not members of the International Legions of Honor; he will notify the International Commander, in writing, at least quarterly of his efforts and progress. In lieu of the quarterly report to the International Commander, he will submit an article to the International Newsletter each quarter. Failure to submit a report or newsletter article will need permission from the International Commander. Failure to submit a second report or newsletter, that violating International Lieutenant Commander will then submit in writing to the International Board of Directors a letter stating why this duty was not performed. Finally, continued failure for this correspondence by the same Lieutenant Commander for a third time, shall result in proceeding to the procedures in Article IV, Section 1 (C); POWER for the possible removal from office for sub-par performance of duties. He will attend all called meetings of the International Commander, the Annual Convention, Board of Directors meetings, Executive meetings, the Imperial Session, if possible, the Association Legions of Honor meetings in his Division and others, if possible, and the Ottawa and Arlington Ceremonies and meetings. He will support the policies of the International Legions of Honor and International Commander and all programs sponsored by the International Legions of Honor. He will encourage other International Officers to assist him in his Division when needed.
