

<https://www.mercatus.org/regulatorystudies/article.php/316.html>

MERCATUS CENTER

GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY

REGULATORY STUDIES PROGRAM

Top News & Opinion

<https://www.mercatus.org/regradar/topnews/index.php>

<http://www.mercatus.org/regradar/topnews/archives/025154.php>

RegRadar.org

August 30, 2005

A Real Nor'easter

Lawrence A. Kogan, Esq. and Dr. Slavi Pachovski,
Institute for Trade, Standards and Sustainable Development (ITSSD), Opinion Editorial -

Environmentalists recently leaked to the New York Times plans for costly regulations that will significantly raise energy, goods and services prices for both businesses and consumers within a nine-state region of the northeast. The regulations will have adverse impacts far beyond the region, too. These increases will materialize, unless vigorously opposed, as early as this coming fall...

Read this entire article in Tech Central Station.

Posted by Erin Hymel on Aug 30, 2005

RegRadar.org offers a central meeting place where academics, policy-makers, interest groups, businesses, and concerned citizens can access current, easy-to-understand information about new and forthcoming regulations.

The Mercatus Center
at George Mason University
3301 N. Fairfax Dr., Ste. 450
Arlington VA 22201
703.993.4930
800.815.5711
fax: 703.993.4935
email: mercatus@gmu.edu

