News from our President

We are proud to introduce you to the new Texas WMA QR Code. You see them everywhere, I even had to use one to look up a recipe that has ALWAYS been on the box.

To use it, open the camera on your phone and hold it over the QR code. It should take you to the WMA website or you might have to click on a link. We always say you can find information on the webpage so it was brought up, how about finding an easy way to help you get to the page.

If you would like a copy of the code to attach to something electronically just send me an email and I will forward it to you. My email is cindylynn90@gmail.com.

Much love to all my fellow workers, Cindy Allen (President)

Broken Crayons Still Color

Theme verse: Psalm 147:3

"He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds."

Saved the date—July 19-20, 2024

Northside Baptist Church, Conroe, Tx

Guest Speaker: Yalanda Merrrell

You are loved.

One thing broken people feel the most is unwanted, unloved and uncared for. But God loves you, with all of His heart and more than you could ever comprehend. No matter how forgotten you think you are, God is wrapping His loving arms around you. Jeremiah 31:3 reiterates this, saying "I have loved you with an everlasting love". The brokenness in your heart may be blinding you from this fact, so clear your head and tell yourself the truth: you are loved by God.

You can choose to find joy.

When you are broken and feeling down, you might not see any silver linings (or feel guilty looking for one). God wants to remind you that it's perfectly alright to be happy, or trying to create happiness. The word "joy" is in the Bible 165 times, and that's no mistake. God wants you to feel joy in your heart and tells us this in Galatians 5:22 which reads: "But the fruit of the Spirit is joy."

You can pray to God.

When you are feeling broken and faced with hardships, God wants you to turn to Him in prayer. Jeremiah 29:12 says "Then shall you call upon me, and you shall go and pray unto me, and I will hear you. And you shall seek me, and find me, when you shall search for me with all your heart." When you feel there is no one to chat with, even your closest girlfriends, you can turn to God for a friend. He will not only listen, but give your heart the advice it truly needs.

Don't put it off—Get registered and add it to your calendar for the end of summer.
