

CARE

By John Lipinski

If you can share, if you could care
You'd be a part of me, only, if you wanna be
The price of love, equals two-for-one
Someone is there, and never despair
You can count on me, just take the liberty
Of knowing well, I'll be, here for the long run

What can I do, to prove to you,
This love, that is, oh, so true
On my knees I pray, you'll realize someday
Here, in my arms, you will stay

If you should dare, to doubt that I care
Try, if you must, I'll prove you can trust
In me, every time
I don't wear a crown, but, I won't let you down
Ask heaven above, He knows that my love
For you, is true, and so sublime

What can I do, to prove to you
This love, that is, oh, so true
On my knees I pray, you'll realize someday
Here, in my arms, you will stay

If you can share, if you could care
You'd be a part of me, only if you wanna be
The price of love, equals two-for-one
Someone is there, so never despair
If you can count on me, just take the liberty
Of knowing well, I'll be, here for the long run
