6 The Buzz with Rabbi B

Our Love and Gratitude for Rabbi Apothaker

As I write this article, I am reminded that we are in the midst of transition here at TBS, as I hear drills, saws, and banging in the office next to me. The next time you come to the Temple you'll notice a few changes. As Rabbi Apothaker prepares for retirement on July 1st to pursue his scholarly work full time, he has moved to a new office upstairs off of the Sanctuary. It's a great space. I will be moving into Rabbi A's old office, and Rabbi Lenette will be moving into what has been my office for the last nine years. With a little paint, some new carpet, and furniture, we will be up and running in no time. The moving of furniture this week is a physical reminder for us that this transition is really happening. We've been planning this for so many years, and it's hard to believe it's here.

While I couldn't be more excited and honored to become the Senior Rabbi and have Rabbi Lenette join us as our Assistant Rabbi, I'm also aware how much I will miss Rabbi Apothaker. I will miss his wisdom, his ability to see the big picture, his deep scholarly knowledge of, well, pretty much everything, I may even miss his jokes. I am so thrilled that Rabbi A has agreed to stay around as our Rabbi Emeritus, and that he will remain connected to the congregation he built. More than anything at this moment, I am feeling gratitude. I am eternally grateful to Rabbi A for not only the knowledge he has imparted to me, and the guidance he has generously offered from the moment I arrived, but more so for our enduring partnership and friendship throughout these many years. I knew I hit the jackpot when I arrived at TBS, and that is due largely to Rabbi A.

During the High Holy Days this past year, I was able to share a little of my gratitude toward Rabbi Apothaker with the congregation. I have included some of those remarks below.

Excerpt from my (modified) Erev Yom Kippur Sermon:

In 1980 when Rabbi Apothaker came to Columbus to serve as what would become the congregation's first full time rabbi, he was 28 years old. Some reading this article remember this time in our congregation's history, when TBS was in its infancy. In 1980 there were 44 households registered in the congregation. No building, no staff, no multiple High Holy Day services to fit everyone in the room. Our temple shared space with the Eastminster Presbyterian Church on Broad Street, where Rabbi A shared an 8x8 office with boxes of prayerbooks, choir robes, and office supplies. From the very beginning, Rabbi A actively engaged in congregational life, by helping many people, some of whom had previously had negative experiences with rabbis. Rabbi A led TBS to do community service, to collect food for the hungry, to serve Meals on Wheels, to make our community stronger. From the very first year he was here, he officiated at interfaith weddings, welcoming couples into the Jewish fold, and widely opening the door to a Jewish life. Very few rabbis were doing interfaith weddings at the time, but Rabbi A knew that openness and kindness would draw interfaith couples into the community rather than shutting them out. True to TBS' inclusive mission, Rabbi Apothaker was also conducting gay and lesbian weddings or commitment ceremonies way before it was cool to do them. Accessibility. It was all about providing everyone access to the Jewish community. And from there, he and our leadership built this congregation from the ground up. As the congregation grew and occasionally struggled, it could have been easy for Rabbi A to focus on what we didn't have – a building, technology, any money at all, but he chose instead to always look forward, looking toward the next Shabbat, the next holiday, the next counseling session, the next lifecycle event, the next year. He always says, 'what we did yesterday won't serve us for tomorrow.' There's no rest when you're working with Rabbi A.

I can't even begin to express my own personal gratitude toward Rabbi Apothaker. You taught me how to be a rabbi. You taught me how to care for other people. You showed me how to be a better person. We have studied together, problem solved together, counseled together, taught together, sermonized together, cut down branches for the sukkah together, set up crazy kids activities together, even dressed up as superheroes together on Purim. I have been and will continue to be honored to call you my rabbi, my teacher.

There is a prayer in our liturgy called Elu D'varim – these are the duties, these are the actions we take, the daily things that we do because doing them is what's right. Rabbi A likes to call these the other ten commandments.

Here is the prayer:

These are duties whose worth cannot be measured: Honoring one's Parents, Acts of Love and Kindness, Diligent Pursuit of Knowledge and Wisdom, Hospitality to Strangers, Visiting the Sick, Celebrating with Bride and Groom, Consoling the Bereaved, Being Devoted in Prayer, And Making Peace where There is Strife. And the Study of Torah Leads to Them All.

Our rabbi, You have encouraged us to honor our parents. You have demonstrated daily how to act intentionally, with love and kindness. You have diligently pursued Jewish study and inspired us to do the same. You have welcomed the stranger, teaching the rest of us how to open our arms. You have spent countless hours at the bedside of those in need of healing, holding our hands when we have been weak. You have stood joyfully with us in our greatest celebrations and quietly comforted us in our darkest moments. You have closed your eyes and offered prayers, helping the rest of us to reach new spiritual heights. You reminded us how to communicate with one another when we forgot how to speak.

And the Study of Torah Leads to Them All.

And Rabbi Apothaker Leads us to Them All.

Your Years of Dedication to Us, Your Love of this Congregation and the Jewish People

Your Life's Work...

You are Our Torah.

I wish Rabbi Apothaker and Marcie the very best as this next phase of life begins for them. You too can wish them well by attending services on Friday, June 23, at 6:30 pm. We will have a festive service honoring Rabbi A featuring music by the Sharyonim, our Klezmer Band, stories about Rabbi A, and even a visit from the Mayor and City Council of New Albany with a proclamation about the tremendous contributions Rabbi A has made to our community throughout the years. Please plan to join us for this celebratory evening!

Kehillat Torah Sunday School Year in Review

Torah students have passed quickly. I can honestly say that I have enjoyed teaching every one of our students. I am pleased with the amount of repertoire the children have learned and the effort and enthusiasm they exhibited throughout the year.

The sixth graders met in the music room for thirty minutes each week to study Torah tropes. Each word of the torah has a cantillation, or trope mark, that represents how to sing the word. There are 42 different torah tropes and the class learned 19 of them over the course of the year. The 19 tropes that I selected for the students to learn are the most commonly used tropes. Learning these musical tropes gives students a head start when they begin their training for their Bat or Bar Mitzvah. The Temple Beth Shalom Bar and Bat Mitzvah tutors have already seen the benefits of this class for their students.

The sixth graders also participated in a partnership with 6th graders from Remes School located in our sister city, Kafar Saba, Israel. Both the Temple Beth Shalom and Remes 6th graders filled out a ten item questionnaire that contained questions such as: your favorite: movie, television program, musician, hobby etc. We then created a Venn Diagram to show the similarities and differences in our preferences. The final activity was receiving and then sending a letters to the Remes School's 6th grade class. What a wonderful way to learn firsthand about Israeli culture.

Each Kindergarten through fourth grade classes spent many weeks in Kehillat Torah Sunday School preparing for their special Friday Shabbat Service. It is always a joy for the children to have the opportunity to make their family and friends proud of their hard work, accomplishments and involvement in Shabbat Services.

Third graders lead services on November 4th. It was "Camp Shabbat" and the students led: Tree of Life, Wonderful Shabbos Sound, L'Cha Dodi, Oseh Shalom, and Am Yisrael Chai around the indoor camp fire.

Consecration and Kindergarten Shabbat was held Friday, December 2nd. These participants led the following songs: Bim Bam, Thank You God, Shema, Little Torah, Torah Li and Tree of Life.

The first grade Shabbat was held February 3rd. The students led Hinei Mah Tov, Tree of Life, Barechu, Oseh Shalom and David Melech Yisrael.

April 7th was the date for the fourth grade Hag HaSiddur Ceremony and Friday Shabbat Service. The students led the following songs: Sweet as Honey, Tree of Life, L'Cha Dodi, Barechu, Oseh Shalom and Al Sh'lo Shah D'varim. Each fourth grade student was presented with their own Siddur (prayer book) during this Shabbat Service.

The Gesher Ceremony was held for the second graders on Friday, May 6th. During this ceremony, the children crossed over the gesher (bridge) as they bridge their way into Hebrew classes this next school year. The 2nd graders led the songs: Hinei Mah Tov, God is Everywhere, L'cha Dodi, Oseh Shalom, Alef Bet and Good Shabbos, Shabbos to You.

Parents, I want to thank you for supporting your children and their Kehillat Torah teachers. And, Men's Club, thank you for providing the delicious meals that make it possible for our families to get to know each other and celebrate Shabbat together. It takes a village to Jewishly educate our youth!

Books, Books Everywhere, but Not the Time to Read

By Susan Bader, TBS Library Committee Member

How do you pick the next book you will read? Where do you go to obtain the book? Are you looking for a book to donate to the TBS Library? For suggestions, one place the Temple's Library uses for research is the Jewish Book Council. The JBC, which may be new to you, was founded in 1944, as an organization encouraging and contributing to Jewish literature. The goal of the Council, as stated on its website, is "to promote the reading, writing and publishing of quality English language books of Jewish content in North America". The council sponsors the National Jewish Book Awards, the Sami Rohr Prize for Jewish Literature, the Jewish Book Network, a birthright trip focused on journalism and literature, and Jewish Book Month. It also publishes Jewish Book World. Please visit the Jewish Book Council's informative website at <http://www.jewishbookcouncil.org/books/> to learn more and to guide you in your reading selections.

If you are thinking of something new to read and donate, by somewhat lesser known authors, we can make some suggestions. A story recognizable to anyone who grew up Jewish in America after the Holocaust will be the enjoyable Hungry Heart, by Jennifer Weiner. She didn't face the same trials as her parents or grandparents, but whose vague sense of displacement spurred a lifetime of striving. It's the story of an obese girl turned an obese woman who created a full life, found love, had success and achieved multiple happily-ever-afters.

Stranger in a Strange Land, by George Prochnik explores the life of Kabbalist scholar Gershom Scholem (1897-1982) through the lens of his own struggles to embrace Judaism and make a life in Jerusalem. Scholem's story takes off in 1915, when, as an eighteen-year-old, he discovered Zionism, Kabbalah, and Walter Benjamin, his three enduring life passions.

Of all the Jewish basketball players and teams, none could match the SPHAS. This is all chronicled in The SPHAS: The Life and Times of Basketball's Greatest Jewish Team by Douglas Stark. The team's heyday, from 1933-1946, coincided with the Great Depression, a rise of anti-Semitism, and World War II as a backdrop. The SPHAS won seven titles in thirteen years in the American Basketball League (1933-1946), which at the time was the top professional basketball league in the country.

If you lived through 60s and beyond you might enjoy Liel Leibovitz's newest book, A Broken Hallelujah: Rock and Roll, Redemption and the Life of Leonard Cohen. This is the story of American popular music in the last five decades, which unfortunately is largely a story of decline. After a brief and fiery Sixties decade, in which every young person who flocked to California or Downtown Manhattan with a guitar case and a hungry heart, seemed to turn into a Jim Morrison, Jimi Hendrix, Janis Joplin, or Lou Reed. Then starting with 70s, things took a turn for the worse. Take away Springsteen, the Ramones, and the Notorious B.I.G., and you're left largely with year after year of bloated stadium schlock, screechy garage noise, and confections too sweet for the musical palate of anyone older than 12 years of age. What happened? How did a scene that produced so many masterworks, in such a short stretch of time, fade away?

Take an opportunity to visit the TBS Library and peruse the shelves of books (aka the stacks) and browse those books that look interesting and you may want to borrow. We have over 2,500 books in our collection that have been placed in categories, labeled, shelved and listed on our LibraryThing.com hosted, no password required, web site, <http://www.librarything.com/catalog/TempleBethShalom>. Take notice what favorite authors of yours are missing and which categories fill little shelf space. Then, consider making an effort to make a donation to the Library Fund or an actual book. Even if you read from a computer device or electronic book reader, there is nothing quite like holding a book, turning pages, and enjoying pictures. Come and enjoy the treasures available to you – a TBS Member Benefit.

Book Club Chavurot!

The library Committee Welcomes all TBS Book Clubs to join together and utilize available resources!

The Library Committee is available to bring guest speakers, provide space for book club meetings, and can provide outreach for book club membership!

He loves hanging out with friends and he is always willing to give back to others. He has a great sense of humor and an infectious laugh.

Aiden has a caring and loving personality, which is why he chose to volunteer at Traditions Nursing Home. He wanted to be an active part of his community. Caleb's tutoring was provided by Rabbi Benjy and Ben Rosen.

On Saturday, June 17th at 4 o'clock in the afternoon Sydney Netta Patterson, daughter of Jill and Andy Patterson, will be called to the Torah for her First Aliyah. Sydney just completed the 7th grade as a straight A student at Sheridan Middle School and has attended the TBS Kehillat Torah Religious School.

"Syd the Kid" is an accomplished gymnast currently training Level 9 at All Starz Gymnastics in Thornville, OH. For her Bat Mitzvah project, she worked with younger gymnasts to help them learn new skills and the importance of hard work and never giving up. She is a wonderful role model to many. Syd is thankful for all the people who have helped her on her journey and especially for Robin Leasure who has been very patient, kind and accommodating of her busy schedule.

On Saturday, June 24th at 10 o'clock in the morning, William Shawn Slabodkin will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah. He is the son of Inna and Mark Slabodkin, grandson of Luda and Ben Kagan, Vladimir (of blessed memory) and Rimma Slabodkin.
