

William M. Henne

Feb. 18, 1934

William M. Henne died at his home in Fair Haven Township Sunday afternoon. Mr. Henne had been ailing for over a year.

Deceased was born in Newark, New Jersey, on December 7, 1854. In 1863, he came with his parents to the Pittsburg Colony east of Old Bay Port. Three years later they took up the homestead just south of the Fair Haven town hall where he spent the balance of his life. On May 22, 1879, he was united in marriage with Anna Kuhl who passed away on April 4, 1929.

Mr. Henne was a member of the Sebewaing Evangelical Church for nearly fifty years.

He took an active interest in civic affairs and in turn had occupied the office of supervisor, treasurer, highway commissioner, justice, and clerk of Fair Haven Township. After serving as township clerk for many years, he resigned the office on January 1 of this year owing to poor health.

Mr. Henne was a great reader and kept himself well posted on world and national affairs. He was a kind neighbor and a loving father.

Those who survive him are one daughter, Mrs. Jacob Schwalm of Caseville; seven sons, Henry, Herman, Arthur, William, Victor, and Gerald of Bay Port and Samuel of Saginaw.

The funeral service was held at the Bay Port M. E. Church Wednesday afternoon conducted by Rev. Link of the Sebewaing Evangelical Church assisted by Rev. Card of Bay Port. Interment was in the New Bay Port Cemetery.
