

Claire

First and foremost, thank you and your organization for letting us take one of your newfoundlands. We all love her very much and she really completes our family.

She loves the children and happily eats any treat they leave behind or one she can steal from them when they are not looking. She is real wild outside and loves to play tackle, but acts like an old lady in the house. Usually you can find her lying under a table.

She is still rather shy entering indoor environments, but with a little encouragement she will make the trip and is coming out of her shell. Thank goodness because it is a rather large shell to get to come around!

Claire and our Aussie (Twister) took some warming up to each other, but are now the best of friends and love rough-housing outside. He herds her and she sits on him when he finally catches her. We just got a new kitten to which Claire gives giant tongue bathes. She has taken to all of our animals with ease.

She is so very bossy, but that is some of her charm and with a little negotiating can always see it my way.

Everywhere we go she catches attention from people. Some of our outings include walking down to pick Sebastian up at kindergarten and regular walks around the neighborhood. We went swimming with our local pound in the city pool and she loved it. Gladly, letting all the little kids pet her. She has been such a treat for us!

We would happily open our home to another newf if you ever need one!

Thank you for completing our family!

Fondly,
Jamie B.
