

Emme Ryan

Emme Ryan is a young singer songwriter from Reading, Pennsylvania who simply wants to make an impact on her listeners with the lyrics and melodies that she writes. With a growing collection of songs that she's written ever since she was fifteen, the hope is that her music will form strong connections with the hearts, memories, and minds of everyone who hears. Having developed a love for the classics throughout her teen years, she combines those influences with a fresh, new perspective which results in a distinctive sound all her own which refuses to be boxed in by a single genre. Emme is also joined by a talented band of musicians who further elevate each song with their craft.
