

It Could Have Been ...

The bar was packed with exotic strangers
The lights were dim and the music was hot
The dancing feverish; almost tribal
The moist, warm air smelled of pot

I held you
I could feel your heartbeat
I pulled you closer
And, time stood still
We were alone
Among the living
So much to do
And, no time to kill

It could have been beautiful
It should have been beautiful
It would have been beautiful
If I, I, I, I...

You smelled so good, I wanted to lick
Take you home and take you there
I wanted to do anything but trick you
Chances like this are so precious and rare

It could have been beautiful
It should have been beautiful
It would have been beautiful
If I, I, I, I...

Then you were gone
In an instant
Just a memory of heat and light
Your perfume hanging in the air
Dreams disappearing into the night

It could have been beautiful
It should have been beautiful
It would have been beautiful
If you, you, you...
