Dear Dan,

What a pleasure for us to hear from you again. We mourned your move to the east for the better part of two years. Most of all we missed our weekly tennis lessons and your patient coaching that moved us from "sand lot" players to "real" tennis buffs. I can remember the time that Juergen and I promised each other never to call what we did on the courts, TENNIS. You taught us the strokes, the strategy, and the sportsmanship of the game.

We knew that we were playing real tennis when other regulars on the courts began to comment on how much our play had improved and how good we looked executing the strokes. You are responsible for our improvement. We are both happy to hear that you are going back into coaching. There are lots of people, just like us, who have started to enjoy the sport beyond the years when most people begin to play.

You certainly helped us become good enough at the game so that other players do not suspect that we only began our tennis experiences after we were fifty years old. We play every day that we can and are looking forward to retirement to make tennis our way of life.

Thank you for teaching us HOW to play tennis.

Fondly,

Juergen and Johanna

Dan - I do believe you are entrenched in NC !!! How many years have you been there? Are you a Granddaddy yet??

Some young man in his early 40's that I have played tennis with was watching Kier & I play the other night and made the comment that I have "great" preparation for my shot (stroke - I know) and I couldn't have been more thrilled. I have worried so about forgetting everything you taught me so it shows that something stuck (or partly any way). I love tennis & someday when I retire I hope I can join a club & spend more time on the courts. I also want to dance lessons again as soon as
