

A World of Abundance

A world of abundance surrounds you, so step up and claim it! There are billions of people on the planet having conversations about how they can become a resource for other people - it's time to become a participant in that game! One of our core desires as a human being is to be a contribution to others, to make a difference. Look around you every day, and see how you can become a resource for the people you meet. Offer what you love to do; and offer what the people in your community provide. All needs and wants are met through someone you know!

Take action to have life happen through you rather than letting it happen to you. It will make all the difference in the world. It's first a shift in your view of life, then a shift in the actions you take. When you view yourself as the source of the results that occur around you, you then become the source of the circumstances of your life; when you are the source of the circumstances of your life, you get to say what your life looks like! When you participate, you are an active, integral part of the global human family, creating and causing the world we live in.

Have some FUN! When you are fully self expressed and enjoying life, people are attracted to you – and that opens up opportunities.
