Our History

Karen and Don Mudd, founders of Woodlands Oriental Gallery, travel the world to select from artisan looms and import rugs directly to their store. This enables them to offer the best prices on exquisite pieces to their clients. The Mudds have built their successful business upon the foundation of exceptional-quality rugs, superior customer service, and extensive knowledge of hand-woven Oriental rugs from resources around the world. They have been serving The Woodlands and surrounding areas since 2001 and for 20 years prior in the Houston metropolitan area.

In May 2014, international rug industry expert, Luis Arce, brought his 25 + years of experience upon joining the team at Woodlands Oriental Rug Gallery. His approach to hand-woven rugs is one of reverence for the meticulous craftsmanship involved in the rug-making process and the rich history carried in each unique piece.

“The greatest rugs in the world are like fine art,” Luis says. “They have such superb quality, designs, and workmanship. The mid-to-late-19th century was the heyday of the rugs from Persia, India, and Turkey. Today, we can also find great new pieces with excellent artisanship, which is ideal for today’s décor.”

“Patrons of all ages and backgrounds have developed a great and growing interest in finding one-of-a-kind, rare, and well-made hand-knotted rugs,” Luis added.

At Woodlands Oriental Gallery, we believe that quality endures the test of time, which is what you deserve when purchasing a rug from us. Whether your rug is an antique, an heirloom, or both, we look forward to assisting you here at our gallery.

ORIENTAL RUG COLLECTION

For centuries, many collectors held antique rugs without realizing their true value or how much appreciation they would gain in the future. Today, in auction houses across the globe, it is common for such pieces to surprisingly and unexpectedly fetch six-figures or more. In addition, traditionally-crafted oriental rugs and tapestries can be found in homes and businesses alike as consumers are increasingly choosing to invest in and enjoy the beauty and artistry of such works in their daily living. As a result, the monetary and sentimental value of these creations has spurred a higher interest in fine hand-woven rugs.

At the Woodlands Oriental Rug Gallery, we have searched the world to bring our clients the highest-quality rugs possible; this has allowed us to develop trusted relationships with our clients over the years. We are pleased to offer a diverse selection of rugs and tapestries to suit a variety of decorative tastes. From traditional to modern styles, you are certain to discover an ideal, one-of-a-kind rug that will add luxurious warmth to your home. More importantly, your rug is certain to bring you the peace of mind that your selection made today will appreciate in value for generations to come.

In this publication, you will find examples of the vast hand-woven rug collection that can be found at the Woodlands Oriental Rug Gallery. Please enjoy, with our compliments.
