I think Madeira is a really great city and I'm happy to live here. The only thing I wish to change is that I wish people would be more inclusive to those who are different in our community.

Madeira's motto is the "Friendly Town". I feel Madeira is friendly and welcoming to me.

I think because I am white and upper class, I am welcome just about everywhere. I have this privilege that I did not earn. While I'm glad to feel welcome, I believe it is our job to include others and learn about other cultures.

I think Madeira can work to be more friendly and welcoming.

Please share your comments and ideas (Optional):

It must be difficult to be a minority in Madeira since the city is primarily white. I believe that being friendly and welcoming is an idea that should begin at home, but our community and schools can also work to be inclusive, not just to other races, but also other cultures and people with different abilities.

Madeira is a great location to live in Cincinnati. It's easy to get to a lot of places and has everything we need nearby. We initially moved to Madeira for the excellent schools, but we stay because it feels like home. We like the small town feel while still being close to a big city.

I think that individuals need to reach out to their neighbors more. People often keep to themselves these days, but I think it's so important to introduce yourself to your neighbors and help each other out.
