

Fall 2021 Notes

Hello Everyone,

Yesterday's Shawl Drop-off was another success thanks to everyone's dedication and support! We received a total of 285 shawls and lap blankets since our last event and our year to date total is an impressive 743 items! Wrapped in Love is having another very successful year thanks to the generosity and commitment of our volunteers. Many of you have found it convenient to drop-off around your schedule – please feel free to continue to contact me if you need to make arrangements.

The following heartwarming messages were received from our donor families:

"I just received this lovely handmade throw a few days ago. I was thinking of my friend (donor) today, as I do most days. The throw is beautiful. Thank you and Lea who crocheted it, for the touching token of remembrance."

"Thank you for the handmade wrap in memory of my precious first born son. I will treasure it always."

"Please extend my deepest gratitude to those at the Sharing Network. I received a beautiful, thoughtful afghan I will treasure."

"Thank you so much for the beautiful blanket sent in honor of my son, who was an organ donor. We will cherish it as a reminder of his gift of life. If possible, please share our gratitude with Beverly, who crocheted our blanket with care."

"I wanted to say thank you for the beautiful knitted throw. I love it, it meant a lot."

Our program continues to flourish and bring comfort to donor families because of volunteers like you. Thank you for your continued support, you know we couldn't do it without you!

In gratitude,

Lisa Colasurdo, Wrapped in Love Coordinator
