

Breckinridge County Public Library News and Events

The pathway for the Total Solar Eclipse happening on August 21st is going across the United States. The path of totality includes 13 states: Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Nebraska, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, South Carolina, Kansas, North Carolina, Illinois, and Georgia. We are not directly in the pathway so we will not see a Total Solar Eclipse, only a partial Solar Eclipse. To view a Total or Partial Solar Eclipse safely you will need to wear Solar Eclipse Glasses. We were not one of the lucky libraries to receive free Solar Eclipse glasses, but we did order a limited number to give away to our patrons. To receive a free pair of glasses you have to:

- Have a library card
- Checkout at least 1 item
- Limit 1 per person
- Only adults can get the glasses (because school is not going to be closed, we will have a program for preschool and home school families. Adults are also welcome for this program)

On Monday, August 21st we will have a Solar Eclipse viewing party from 11:30am – 1:30pm for adults and families. There will be snacks and crafts. If you are planning to attend this program please sign up at the front desk. This is so that we know how many people are going to attend and to make sure that we have enough Solar Eclipse glasses for everyone to watch it safely.

At the Hardinsburg main library we offer classes to improve your technology skills. These classes are one-on-one and you can either call or come to the library to schedule a class. Along with one-on-one classes we will have a monthly technology class. This month's class is going to be an Apple class. It will go over the basics of using Apple products. This class is going to be on Wednesday, August 9th at 5pm.
