Deb Gillis has an extensive knowledge of tracking, scent and odor movement and training dogs. She has trained and competed with multiple dogs, earning titles at all levels of tracking, scent work, nose work, obedience and rally. For many years she was active in search and rescue and assisted APD with urban missing persons cases. She is an AKC Scent Work judge, a NACSW judge and a provisional AKC Tracking judge. Deb teaches classes in Anchorage and she is currently competing with her German Shepherd, Falkor, in several AKC events and is close to earning his Champion Tracker and Scent Work Detective titles. Pictured above is Deb and Falkor in a VST trial.

Current AKC Tracking Regulations will be available for purchase $14.

This is a classroom only seminar. No Dogs.
