

Esteemed members of the Arkansas Parole Board,

I am signing this letter in support of Heath Stocks's bid for clemency.

I have gotten to know Heath over the years, through our communications and visits, and find him to be compassionate, trustworthy, and intelligent. Heath has strived to develop as a person, applied himself to programs inside and outside the prison, and he has transformed into a man I am proud to know. Not only has he invested into healing from a past of trauma and abuse, but he routinely uses the lessons learned to assist and inspire those around him. Heath listens to others' problems, seeks to help them any way he can, and I believe that he is someone worthy of your grace.

He is an amazing person who deserves to live a life outside of prison walls. I know Heath Stocks and believe that he can be a productive citizen, and his work over the past 23 years in prison shows his efforts to reform and rehabilitate. Not many people would share their worst experiences openly with the world, in an effort to help others, but he has done that and displayed true Godly character.

I am personally pleading with you to grant his plea and, as a supporter, offer my part in the network of individuals willing to help empower and support his success.

Sincerely,
