

TWO LONG YEARS

By John Lipinski

I've spent two long years lovin' you
But not too long to say we're through
No one else has ever loved you like I do
And I've spent two long years lovin' you

Time passes quickly, when everything goes right
We're happy, it's great to be in love
But when she takes you for granted, almost ev'ry night
Goodbye mem'ries, that I'd been thinkin' of

I've spent two long years lovin' you
But not too long to say we're through
No one else has ever loved you like I do
And I've spent two long years lovin' you

The same old routine, each and ev'ry day
Good morning, soon becomes good night
Flames of passion subside, those old memories die
Someone's cheatin', and puttin' out the fire

I've spent two long years lovin' you
But not too long to say we're through
No one else has ever loved you like I do
And I've spent two long years lovin' you

I've spent two long years lovin' you
But not too long to say we're through
No one else has ever loved you like I do
And I've spent two long years lovin' you
