

Herbal Remedy

Penetration

Herbal treatments form a vital and critical element in Traditional Chinese Medicine. Elisha Li employs her extensive knowledge of herbal remedies to create combinations from thousands of herbs - designed specifically for the needs of each individual patient - in the form of topical (pure) herbal oils. These oils are applied to the treated area of the body for the best results.

Chinese Herbal Medicine

Chinese Herbal Medicine is another important part of Traditional Chinese Medicine system. They are natural and non or rare side effects. Most Chinese herbal medicine is applied by remedies, which means they are consisted of more than one ingredient to enhance the best efficacy and balance the herb properties. We provide premade Chinese herbal medicine remedies (pills and tablets) to speed the healing process.