Journey to Guatemala, a country otherwise known as the “Land of Trees”. Antigua is a small city surrounded by volcanoes in southern Guatemala. It’s renowned for its Spanish colonial buildings, many of them restored following a 1773 earthquake. Lake Atitlán, once referred to as “the closest thing to Eden on earth” by Lonely Planet, is a crater lake formed around two million years ago. It is nestled between three majestic volcanoes and twelve different Mayan villages.

Program Highlights

- Enjoy participating in a Mayan culture workshop, school visits and more. This program is for you if you are looking for an adventure that will align with your passion for education and leave a life-long memory of a unique and rich cultural perspective.
- Accompanying guest program – alternate activities will be provided for those who do not wish to attend the meetings.

Focus on Professional Interaction

- Meaningful interaction and collaboration will immerse you in local life in Guatemala and allow a chance for participation in education focused visits across a range of institutions: public and private schools, NGOs, cooperatives and higher education.
- Spend time giving back at one of Niños de Guatemala’s Nuestro Futuro schools. They serve nearly 200 children living below the poverty line and a visit will give you time to learn about their education, empowerment, and environmental initiatives.
- This educational journey combines the perfect blend of cultural immersion, support of local schools/educators and an introduction to current education policy.

Focus on Community & Culture

- Take part in many hands-on activities including a Guatemalan cooking class, volcano hiking, and visiting archaeological sites and urban centers of the pre-Columbian Maya civilization.
- Your participation will directly support the education of one Niños de Guatemala’s student for one year.
- Explore the deep Mayan Culture of several indigenous communities.
