

Common Manufactured Home Anchorage Systems are...

1. ...designed to provide lateral stability, not to resist uplift forces.
2. ...often the weakest link. These bottom up failures leave the occupants with little to no protection.

All images & illustrations courtesy of Dr. David Roueche, Auburn University.