List activities your child responds well to:

We use redirection as much as possible at Reggio. When redirection is not effective, we will give them time to "think" in a "Thinking Spot". We also use terms like, "Calm your body", "Penalty Box" or "Quiet Spot". Are there any other things that your child responds to if they need to CALM their body down or they need to get focused on the activity at hand?

Example: heavy blankets, vests, squeezing items, etc
