Beth Young

Member at Large

Beth has a background in Interior Design and most recently spent thirteen years working for a custom home builder in the greater Birmingham area. Previous to that position, Beth was the regional sales manager for Crossville Tile and Stone, covering Alabama and the Florida panhandle.

Beth, along with her husband Tom, moved to Senoia from Birmingham, AL in the spring of 2017. Shortly after the move, Beth stopped by the SAHS museum as a first step in 'exploring' her new hometown. Fortunately, the docent on duty was Lynn Horton. Lynn provided an excellent tour and imparted her infectious passion for the history of Senoia. Tom and Beth became members of the Society, and later, Beth trained as a docent and took over the reins of Program Coordinator after Lynn stepped down from the position. Serving the Historical Society and the community at large has become a favorite pastime for Beth.

Tom and Beth have two grown children, a son who still resides in Birmingham, and a daughter in Nashville. Birmingham may be her hometown but Senoia is her home.

She continues to be responsible for the day-to-day operation of the museum and staffing of volunteers. She also coordinates special events and presents Senoia's unique history to community organizations and clubs.
