The ArtisAnn Gallery presents:

James Allen & Sophie Aghajanian

An Online Exhibition at www.artisann.org

ArtisAnn Gallery is delighted to present this online exhibition featuring one of Northern Ireland's most famous artistic couples, James Allen and Sophie Aghajanian,

Sophie Aghajanian, RUA, was born in Palestine, of Armenian descent, and studied art in London and Brighton before moving to Belfast. She has shown her work nationally and internationally, including recently in New York in 2019.

She is an exceptional printmaker and painter whose atmospheric artworks are held in many important collections.

James Allen, RUA, studied art in Belfast and Brighton and went on to teach art at Goldsmiths School of Art in London. He returned to Northern Ireland to help establish the Belfast Print Workshop and has been a renowned print maker and painter for many decades.

He has exhibited widely, including in Japan in 2019. His works are held in a wide range of collections around the world, including the Ulster Museum, Arts Council and the Telfair Museum of Georgia.

The exhibition runs online at www.artisann.org from Thursday 2nd April.
