JACK & PAT PHELPS 2019 GRAND MARSHALS

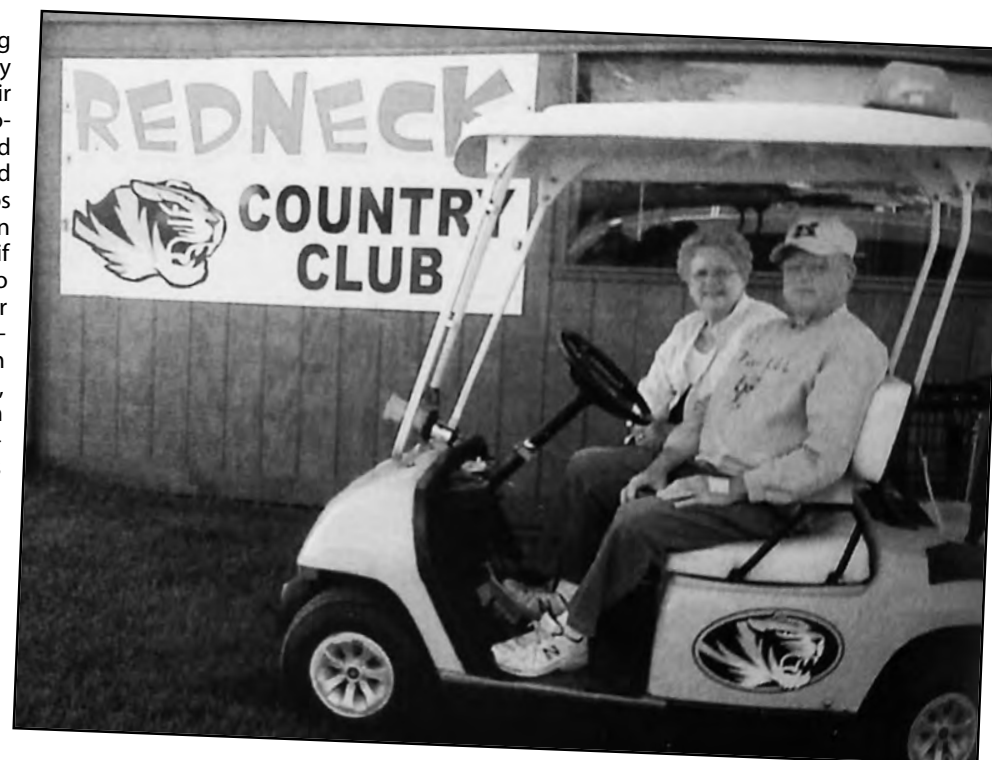

The Redneck Country Club, known for its delicious smoked ribs and warm atmosphere, has proudly served its smoked meat, famous cheesy potatoes and other sides since 2004. Located on the Phelps' family ranch on Highway 131 just north of Holden, the Redneck Country Club, owned and operated by Jack and Pat Phelps, first began selling their ribs on Saturdays at the Farmers' Market, sponsored by the Holden Area Chamber of Commerce, when it first began in the summer of 2004. As word spread about the tasty ribs, each week visitors to the market would be waiting in the parking lot before Jack and Pat would arrive with their smoker, and they would quickly sell out of all their ribs. Not long after that, Jack and Pat started selling their smoked ribs from their driveway on the weekends. They placed their smoker out in front of their house on the driveway along 131 Highway. The aroma was too much to pass up, and people would stop and buy a slab of ribs.

After a few months, people started asking if Jack and Pat would cater their events. Thus, the idea was born for Tiger Jack's catering. Thier first catering event was the Holden Area Chamber of Commerce Banquet. Though Tiger Jack's started in their home, they soon realized they needed to construct a building just for their catering business. In 2006 they built a building directly behind their house. People would drop by and ask to buy ribs and sides. Then people started asking if they could come out there to eat, so they added a room in front just for seating in 2007. The rooms are warmly decorated with a fireplace and memorabilia from the past - old signs, license plates and records, a framed collection of barbwire types from the past and, of course, University of Missouri's Tiger pennants, banners and signs (Jack claims to be Mizzou's #1 fan).

Shortly after that, the Phelps developed an 18-hole sand-green golf course on their farm open to the public. Jack says, "As long as there is daylight, you can golf. No hours are posted. You are on the honor system. People just put money in the box." In 2007 the first golf tournament was held at the golf course. Jack and Pat, Holden High School alumni, have always taken great pride in hiring local high school students to help them maintain their grounds, as well as help cut their cherry and hickory wood to smoke their meat.

The memorable name for the golf course and clubhouse, the Redneck Country Club, and their catchy slogan, "where the elite meet to compete," is hard to forget. In 2010 the idea of forming Redneck Country Club members' club began with just a few of the regular golfers. Today over 120 members have joined, with half of the members admitting they don't even play golf. They just want to be a member of the Redneck Country Club and proudly wear one of a collection of t-shirts displaying the logo.

In 2009 the Redneck Country Club started hosting special events such as the Nace Brothers, many local bands and the Michael J. Laferty Band of South Padre Island, Texas, at their outdoor amphitheater with eats, entertainment and lots of fun. Today there always seems to be a crowd at the Redneck Country Club whether it is a group gathered to watch football or basketball, people golfing or playing horseshoes or washers, kids playing miniature golf or a special event going on. The Redneck Country Club hosts numerous events throughout the year: banquets, wedding receptions, family reunions, class reunions, graduation parties, birthday parties, Christmas parties, funeral dinners, golf tournaments, as well as school cross country district and invitational meets. The Redneck Country Club has always been a great supporter of the Holden Area Chamber of Commerce, as well as many other community organizations, including the Holden school athletics, donating and serving ribs at the 2012 State Football Playoffs when the Holden High School Eagles played in the Final Four game.

GREETINGS FROM THE CHAMBER PRESIDENT

As President of the Holden Chamber of Commerce, I would like to welcome everyone attending the annual Holden Street Fair to be held September 12-14, 2019. The Chamber takes great pride in hosting the annual Street Fair for friends, alumni, and members of the surrounding community. It is a time to celebrate everything that is great about living in a small town.

The theme this year is "Country Nights And Carnival Lights" We are planning three days of fun in the sun and under the stars. It is a time to enjoy events at the grandstand like the queen/king contests, musical performances or just sit and visit with old and new friends. Walk Second Street to enjoy the many food and souvenir booths by local businesses, civic groups and churches. And don't forget to continue to patronize our local businesses during the fair.

Outdoor activities include the 5K run, a horseshoe contest, the parade, and carnival rides. Or, cool off by enjoying the exhibits, shows, and baby contest at the Community Activity Center, or by playing bingo with the Optimist Club at the Hallar Building.

All of this would not be possible without the hundreds of hours our volunteers have worked to prepare for this event. Our Chamber members, civic groups and churches have spent the past year planning for this event. Their tireless spirit is what makes the annual Street Fair a success.

More information about the Street Fair, including entry forms, can be found on the Holden Chamber website at www.holden-chamber.com.

On behalf of the Holden Chamber of Commerce I am pleased to invite everyone to join with family and friends to enjoy the "Country Nights And Carnival Lights."

Caleb Frazier

TRAVIS MARVIN

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13 • 6:30 P.M. & 9:30 P.M.
DOWNTOWN GRANDSTAND

Country music is just a natural part of life for some people. It's deeply woven into the tapestry of their favorite memories and serves as the soundtrack for their daily existence.

"Country music is in my soul," Marvin says. "I grew up playing and was probably five or six-years-old when I started. As far back as I can remember, we would be playing music with my dad and my dad's side of the family. His father was a guitar player and singer so every Sunday we would get together over at my grandfather's house and play music. I was raised on country music."

Born in Ottawa, Kansas and currently residing in Kansas City, the singer/songwriter grew up soaking in the sounds of Randy Travis, Garth Brooks and George Strait. "I remember buying Randy Travis' Storms of Life on cassette tape," he recalls with a smile. "Garth has been a huge influence on me because he's such an entertainer. He does a great job of singing to his fans, not at them. These days, I'm really influenced by guys like Keith Urban and Eric Church, who are both great storytellers. That's my goal with my music. I want to tell great stories and entertain people."

Marvin does just that on his new EP. "Simple" is an engaging anthem about establishing priorities, relishing the truly important things and remembering, "the secret to life ain't that hard." "Life really is simple," Marvin says. "Don't over think it. Don't complicate it. People tend to just make life so hard when really, it's not hard. Just wake up and try to live right to the best of your abilities."

Marvin co-wrote four of the six songs on his new EP, including "Love Revival," an upbeat celebration that showcases the sense of fun in his warm, rich voice. "'Love Revival' is a Travis Marvin curve ball," the country traditionalist says with a laugh. "It's kind of 70ish with a pop/disco groove. It's really different for me, but fun. This song was primarily written to help people enjoy life whether it be with family and friends or whoever. We should just live life to the fullest and have fun doing it. You only get one chance."

The affable singer/songwriter has a gift for making up tempo tunes sound even more vibrant and he's equally skilled at wringing every ounce of emotion from a tender ballad such as "Why I Like Dreaming," an angst-ridden song that finds an abandoned lover reminiscing about the days before he was left behind. "Hanging Out" is a potent mid tempo number about that comfortable place that is just good for your soul, which was inspired after a night on the town in Nashville's honky tonks. The lively "Never had a First Time" captures the excitement of a burgeoning relationship in all its delicious glory while "Untied" is a summertime anthem that paints a picture of a perfect day with someone special.

"I've been blessed with a talent to be able to connect with people pretty quickly. I love looking at people's eyes. I love looking at them, not through them," says Marvin, who is doing 200 shows a year. "I've always been a people person. I love making people happy. I guess it's in my blood."

Always a natural performer, Marvin graduated from family, school and church functions to performing at events throughout Kansas. After placing second in a Battle of the Bands contest, Marvin was approached by legendary radio programmer Mike Kennedy of Kansas City's KBEQ, who recruited him to open a show for Lee Ann Womack. "Ever since then, it's been nothing but escalation," says Marvin, who has opened for Luke Bryan, Miranda Lambert, Blake Shelton, Tim McGraw and Kenny Chesney. "We've just kept climbing the ladder because I've been fortunate enough to have really good musicians around me. They push me to be a better lead man and a better artist. They are loyal guys, very talented musicians and just good people."

Marvin is appreciative of the opportunities he's been given and is excited about the future. "I believe that everybody's got a story and the easiest way for me to tell it is through country music," he says. "You can sing a slow song that will tug at your heart. You can sing a fast song that will make you forget about all of your problems. Everybody's got challenges in their lives but country music helps take people away from them for a while. That's why it's where I need to be. That's my purpose in life. I want to be able to share my life and my stories with people through music."
